essential i'iaz (10:iv), to use the Qur'ánic term. A clear strain runs through its message and the intent of this translation is to permit everyone. Muslim or non-Muslim alike, to understand the sacred document itself, even though they do not understand Arabic. There is a necessity, almost an urgency now for an American version in contemporary English. Our holy Book should be recited on solemn

THE QURAN IS A magnificent document that has been known for fourteen centuries because of its matchlessness or inimitability, its occasions, both public and private, for comfort, morality and quidance. This process must begin in childhood in order for it to become familiar, for it is every Muslim's duty to read the Qur'an and try to understand it. However, the duty has become a problem for those who no longer know any Arabic. A new generation of Englishspeaking Muslims has grown up in North America which must use our scripture differently than their fathers would have done. Their thinking roots have become distinct on a new continent without the familiar use of our holy tongue, and a great difference has developed between their customs and their ancestral faith.

American Muslims face many problems, and the vounger ones face more than the usual group of teenagers; many now have reached the second and third generation when the use of Arabic is being forgotten in the home. It has rarely been taught as a formal subject of instruction, nor has the intellectual content of the Qur'an been studied. The practice which has grown up around the traditional faith has been gravely weakened. Muslims do not have to dance the

In the first place, any accurate version is really a tafsir or commentary written in the target language, and it is important for us to have a trustworthy one with Islamic views. The Qur'an itself says that any divine message should be presented in a people's own tongue: 'We have not sent any messenger unless he was to explain to them in his folk's own tongue (Abraham 14:4). Later on some poetic spirit may bring us the noble paraphrase that we likewise need: I have attempted no such paraphrase myself, because I might feel inclined to take too many liberties with it. Right now the message must simply be accurate, and clear enough so that it will convince even a child. It should be a document one can read, as well as offer a basis for research, a useful whole. Centuries of research have in fact been spent on it. by Muslims and non-Muslims alike. I am not concerned with later development and exegesis here, but merely with the statement or restatement of the initial message. The Bible as we know it, and as the Jews and Christians have known it, and especially knew it in the Prophet's day, is not as reliable as the Qur'an, and has led to constant variation, especially in its interpretation. Thus despite the difficult relations that exist between the West and the Islamic Middle East at present, the basic document for all sides to understand the latter area is the Qur'án, no matter how social scientists or theologians may try to interpret that part of the world after their own fashion.

Religion leads people to predictable action or reaction when its principles govern the outlook of its followers. Thus the Qur'án is shunned or favored insofar as its principles lend themselves to controlling human behavior according to the morality or whims of those in power. Sacred symbols offer a way by which people can look at the Universe, give them a life style which tells them how things are and how they should be. The Orientalists who worked for London, Paris, the Hague or Lisbon wanted to control Islam for their own purposes, and they decreed that the word Islam means "submission." How far they strayed is now apparent, as the Islamic lands throw off their yokes and try to regain their ancient principles. However, translations by Muslims are not always acceptable. Muhammad Ali's is clear but his commentary and at times the English text can be affected by his sectarian tendency. Besides he has used the Havas Arabic dictionary and this is risky because of its hindthoughts carried over from Catholicism. A. Yusuf 'Ali's is more satisfactory as a commentary but his English is overladen with extra words which neither explain the text nor embellish the meaning. True embellishment is the simple telling word which does not detract, but carries the mind directly to the meaning. Marmaduke Pickthall accomplished his labor in the East, and therefore his translation is in heavy Jacobean English laid upon a superstructure of Eastern preoccupations. The Koran by N. J. Dawood which is published in the Penguin series of World Classics is better than most, but it often becomes merely a prosaic paraphrase. 'Abd al-Majid Daryabadi is clear, but hard to work with because of its arrangement, especially in the naming and numbering of chapters. Egyptian and Pakistani interpreters often show that they have not been talking to anyone outside of their own circle, and this lack has hurt even their political propaganda, Mercier unfortunately was translated into English from his French version, just as de Ryer and Sale came to us more from previous translations into Latin than directly from the Arabic. Likewise the new Japanese translation was made from the English, as the modern Spanish is from French and German. Andalusia has forgotten its glory!

Since studies like Noldeke's and Bell's exist for those who need a barren type of criticism, it is not my purpose to follow in that line of

to enter into theological controversy, nor to test the ancestry of ideas that can be found elsewhere; I will not indulge in refutation, especially of old chestnuts, but let the text and the message stand for themselves. This is a long and dignified tradition which should be made part of the world heritage in a universal age.

As with the Spanish poet Alonso de Ercilla in sixteenth century Chile the Qur'án was written down on whatever writing material was available paper, leather, parchment, stones, wooden tablets, the research, but rather just as painstaking a one in trying to lay before the English-speaking world at the end of the twentieth century of their era, or the beginning of the fifteenth century of the Hijra, the message of the Qur'an in reverent yet contemporary English. My purpose is not shoulder blades of oxen, and the "breasts of men." Where did they secure such a quantity of paper or parchment which was needed to make the final copies of Uthman's version.

The present and traditional order is not chronological, but arranged topically, as an editor has a right to do with any book in his hands.

How to split up corpus has always been a problem, especially for Western critics, but changing the order of the text has not bred believers on the West. The vaunted scientific method of investigating texts at first hand is not practised by Western experts when dealing with Islam. However, the urge to revise has worried Western critics and Orientalists like Rodwell, Bell and Dawood, as well as many others and Orientalists like Rodwell, Bell and Dawood, as well as many others.

The Book itself consists of 114 chapters of varying size which are arranged roughly according to their order of length. Its paragraphs and sections have a very traditional order that is easily followed and by which the verses can be located. The present order in the Qur'an was achieved two or three decades after the Prophet's death, or about the year 650 A.D. The third caliph Uthman ibn-'Affan (644-656) appointed a committee to achieve an authorized version of the conscientiousness in this respect. This committee fulfilled its task well, and so within a score of years after the Prophet's death, a splendid job was accomplished.

If we follow the traditional order, then we receive the Prophet's essential message; while if we use a revised order, then we follow his historical mission. I prefer to follow the traditional order, and state the message that Muslim scholars can follow this without effort, and on this order I elaborated the present work for contemporary Englishspeaking readers. Within Islamic circles we cannot now produce a good English prayerbook until this is based upon a reliable English

Qur'ánic text. Uthman's committee was set up to publish the Qur'án in a standard version, and the members naturally showed great version of the Qur'án.

The message of Islam does not come through in most contemporary textbooks used in our schools. Very few have been written by sincere Muslims, so that Islam is derided, and kept at a distance, when we need a clear explanation in our own language, devoid of strained syntax and one which can be read meaningfully and reverently in public. Thousands of Westerners who are now living in or visiting the countries of the Middle East as well as others who never expect to live or visit there, need nonetheless to understand the ethical system which prevails in the Islamic world. The crisis in Iran has shown that.

The present volume (i.e. the English translation) has been planned as an advance edition only. What has been accomplished till now has been done mostly with my own resources. Thanks to the generous help of the Aossey brothers of Cedar Rapids, and the Canadian Muslims, especially those living around Niagara Falls, I was able to accomplish this task because they have indeed helped me financially. So have my friends in Qatar and the Arabian Gulf. God will bless their efforts and kindness, their essential ihsan and sadaga in other words, true charity.

with a document that must be used constantly. Almost every day I learn a new rendering for a word or phrase; then I must run this new thread of meaning through other passages. The Qur'án is a living Book. We must respect yet find a way to interpret this sacred text, and not deform its meaning. The refrain running through Chapter 54 on The Moon tells us: "We have made the Qur'án easy to memorize; yet will anyone memorize it?" (54:22). As it claims, the Qur'anic message is easy to learn. It is divided up so that it can be read in sittings, or read straight through (17:XII). This is clear from the canon itself.

The Qur'án is not a missionary manual but a record of experience. It forms both a message or risala, an "ideology" carried by a rasul or 'messenger'; and it is also a Book or scripture (kitab) sent specifically via the Messenger Muhammad (rasul Allah or 'God's

Nevertheless this translation is not the sacred canon but merely a thread of thought plus some inspiration which appear in the pages I have been preparing. Translation is literally impossible because interpretation in another language is an ongoing process, especially

However the Qur'án does not offer minute details about everything such as is found in many other scriptures; it is an existentialist document telling about the Prophet's experience during his mission to the Arabs and the world. It is the Noble Reading (56:iii); it is a consecrated Text.

In this new translation, I have attempted to accomplish what the West has generally failed to do with Islam: to study it from within and in the nas generally falled to do with Islam: to study it from within and in the light of its own texts. The Qur'án is obviously the best preparation for such an attempt. Moreover this book gives the young Muslim something to hold on to in this day when most authority on moral matters is being abdicated. The doctrinal and ethical superstructure raised on the Five Pillars and other beliefs does not belong in this Introduction, which has been presented merely as a means of helping understand the message.

I have tried to find the simplest word so that the Muslim child can understand it easily, and feel strengthened thereby. It is also intended for the pious non-Muslim who is not already tied up in theology of some other sort: we must be able to discuss Islam on our own terms, terms which have been made up through our own knowledge and our own use of the English language. This present volume has been prepared in order to spread greater understanding of the Islamic religion and to present the English speaking world with a clear rendition of the original Arabic into intelligible modern English. Even in English, the tendency with the Bible now is away from the seventeenth-century language which sounds too much like Pickthall, into the English of present-day speakers.

The Islamic community in the United States and Canada has in certain fashion commissioned me with this task, and I must thank my good friends of Cedar Rapids, lowa especially for their constant encouragement in the venture, because the whole project has grown into a massive undertaking directed also to those non-Muslims who need an introduction to the basic scripture of Islam. I also would like to thank the many people whose enquiries and requests for its trially people whose enquiries and requests for information and material have kept me working at the job. I hope that in this new translation I have in some small measure achieved a version of the Noble Reading, al-Qur'án al-Karim, which can open up its treasures and lay the basis for Islamic piety within the English language and throughout the English-speaking world. Thus for over twenty-three years, I have been reading the Qur'án carefully in Arabic

"at daybreak" (17:ix), with the aim of presenting it in a form which will live for a few decades longer, God willing, or at least until some more gifted worker takes up the challenge and improves on this version.

Grammar and Syntax

textual one which is being translated, and that of the target language, Many Qur'ánic translators, however, have been fluent even in a third tongue which has ended by confusing them; a close attachment to Latin, Urdu or French can hinder the smooth flow of Arabic words and phrases into English. Several previous translations of the Qur'án have likewise been rendered grotesque by relying on antiquated grammar and twisted syntax without mentioning other problems like terminology or the correct rendering of individual words. There is no reason why our holy Book must be quoted in awkward English: if the Arabic is clear (16:xiv, 26:xi) then why do we need to worry about it?

A translation from one language to another requires that the translate have the "feel" of both languages he is working with, that of the

My aim has been to remain scrupulously faithful to the Arabic text. and still create a version which represents good American English prose and can be used confidently by English-speaking people. Arabic is paratactic in its structure while English syntax involves more clauses and phrases, although it does not approach the complexity of either Latin or German to which it is related.

Conjunctions and connectives pose one of our first problems, for one cannot turn English into parataxis and begin each sentence or phrase wit a series of 'and's" as is done in Arabic and Hebrew. Arabic actually has two common words for our single "and"; waw

(which is a prefix in Semitic) refers to the simultaneous "and", while fa (also a prefix) expresses the consecutive connector. The letter fa, can be rendered at times by 'then', 'next' and 'so', or even by the interjection 'why ... !'as a further possibility. In English we use "so", "thus", "well", "then", "as well as" to connect sentences and thought groups in the same manner; we use 'so" and "plus constantly in this fashion in normal speech. On the other hand the simultaneous waw can be 'while' with following or linking verbs and 'as well as' with long lists of nouns, especially for the final one at the end of list which

and Earth, and to the mountains... " (33:IX). The common Semitic paratactic sentence is deadly in dealing with these long lists if it is not handled judiciously in translation. Conjunctions should bind the latecoming concept into the body of the main thought, and not just let ideas go on and on. Moreover neither of these particles waw or fa need always be rendered into English.

Some confusion in translation stems at times from the inability to distinguish between noun and verbal sentences, as occurs in other Semitic languages too: "Verily, I say unto you... " or "Verily, I, say unto you... " as it should be punctuated, occurs in the New Testament in John 1:51 in the King James version, as well as other places, where the Aramaic dialect shines through the bad Greek. It is really, in contemporary English: 'As for me, I tell you... " In the great hymn to "Light" we have the sentence "Waalladhina kafaru amaluhum"

needs to be included and have attention focused on it: "to Heaven find] their deeds are like a mirage on a desert..." (Light 24:39). The need to put the subject first in English often leads us to use the passive.

The disjunctive pronoun precedes the common Spanish phrase: A mi me gusta... meaning 'I like... '; somewhat similar to Le voici for 'Here it is...' in French. In The Opening chapter (al-Fatiha) we find this construction used in the fourth line: "You do we worship and You do we call on for help" (1:15). There is no "only" in this sentence, as kasarab biqiat (24:v). This begins with a noun clause, and the resulting nominal sentence should be: "Those who disbelieve [will some translators insert; the disjunctive position itself gives the needed emphasis they are trying to find.

Verbs cause some difficulty too since they can vary in their usage. The English verbs "to be" and 'to have" are generally expressed in Arabic only by means of the syntax governing pronouns and prepositions. How things exist, and how they should be or how we translation are not always placed between brackets since, similar to "to be" and "to have", they are implied as active, mental verbs: "Your Lord acts as an Observer" (34:II (end). The verb "acted [honorably or charitably]" in 2:VIII gives more force to the verbal quality.

"Giving" and "saying" are often not expressed clearly to a Western reader in other translations, and need to be assumed from the context and their prepositions. "Belongs" and "belonged to" are English verbs which sometimes must be inserted, as in "to God [belongs] the Unseen" Ii'Llahi... (16:xi); or "He owns whatever is in front of us, and whatever is behind us" in 19:iv. "Owns" is another verb that can be inserted for the prepositional phrase la-hu "to him [is]", and at times is clearer than'he has' (70:3).

would like to have them, yields a different quality in Semitic speech; the tone of its ethos has other distinct roots. "Act" and "mean" in my

Tense and conditional moods must be expressed with care, especially with the absent verb "to be"; La ikrah fi al-din should be '[Let there be] no compulsion in religion' (The Cow 2:xxxiv). The softened imperative here expresses the difference between how things exist and how they should be, or how we would like to have them.

Collective nouns are generally considered as abstract feminines in Arabic, exactly what we find in the English words "cattle", "opera", "people". Plurals in Arabic which do not refer to human beings become abstract feminines, and take their adjectives in the feminine

The partitive construction may be known to some educated

The partitive construction may be known to some educated speakers of English from their study of French; yet this knowledge has rarely used by other translators from the Arabic: "seek some of his bounty we are enjoined in 17:vii: and kulu min tavvibat-i ma and "so We may show you [Moses] some of our greatest signs" (20:1). These examples provide random sample.

The superlative absolute presents another problem. It appears as

'quite Aware' for God's quality as the A'lam (17:v): 'quite Observant' for Absar and 'quite Alert' for Asma' in 18:iv.

razaqna-kum 'eat wholesome things we have provided you with' (20: iv); also "some of those We transported along with Noah" (19:iv);

Translating into English has still other problems. For example, English is very deficient when it comes to 2nd person pronouns, which nowadays are found only as "you", "your" and "yours". The old "ye", "thou" an "thee" as well as their respective possessive pronouns are obsolete, especially when teaching our children, even though they appear in the King James version of the Bible and the translation of The Glorious Koran as this has been rendered by Marmaduke Pickthall. His archaic quality cannot live on. The situation is further complicated by the use of the indefinite 'you"

referring to "anybody" or "everybody" as in the colloquia expression 'You should do that!" Occasionally I indicate the singular and plural of this pronoun (as these may occur in Arabic), especially when the Prophet is addressed; at other times the message is directed to his audience or to believers. "You all" or "you (all)" is more natural than "you" in North American English, and I have occasionally used this neutral though dialectal plural with discretion where one must show the difference between the singular and the plural pronoun of Arabic. It sounds more natural even outside of the Deep South, than the obsolete "you" which few North Americans can use effectively any more. The vocative particle ya ... is usually translated as 'O ... !'; but it is usually omitted in contemporary English. Moses addresses his brother Aaron simply as "Son of my mother!" in 7:XVIII.

brother Aaron simply as "Son of my mother!" in 7:XVIII.

English is also defective in the meanings for "man", both as this word i opposed sexually to "woman", and generically to the animal

European mysteries; and i the Chapter AlAsr we meet him "At eventide, everyman /[feels] at loss..." (103:12).

"Man(kind)" and "people" are other defective expressions in English. The 'folk' meant by qawm are literally those who "stand up" alongside you to defend your common interests. AhI, on the other hand, means those people from one's own tent group, "living down the street" or in the same apartment house, as we would express this in modern urban society. "Adam" is a symbol for original man, mentioned in the Qur'án, but only referred to as the common ancestor of humanity: Banu Adam. The name is derived from 'red earth' in Arabic referring to the clay God used in fashioning him kingdom in general, and also to sprites. The singular insan means '(every) man' in 17:ll and 19:v. almost in the spirit of the medieval

'he who' for this pronoun.

On the English side, our word "day" shows lexical deficiencies, for the word can be contrasted first with the concept of 'night" (layl vs. nahar), then with the sidereal day as this is found in calendar dates, in contrast to weeks and months (which is yawm). I use 'daytime' or 'daylight' for nahar; but 'day' only for the broader twenty-four hour

The Arabic pronominal conjunction man is archaic when this is translated as 'whosoever' or even 'he who', and this usage confuses younger readers; generally I use 'anyone who' and only occasionally period.

The simple possessive case occasionally seems to be difficult to translate properly into English, especially the form with the apostrophe. The Arabic word order induces this syntactic error since it apparently follows French or Romance style, especially for Western theological students who have studied Latin first; but it really is similar to elementary Germanic syntax, even to the omission of the Arabic is possessed-possessor, the opposite of English, it seems superficially to resemble French. If you write one under the other. however, then the reverse word order shows up the affinity, a trick I have used successfully on the blackboard with attentive students in my classes in Arabic. These examples in short are some of the textual difficulties which the translator faces in handling the Qur'an. It has been a challenging article in the possessing element. However, since the sequence in task, but always rewarding. Handling Dualism and Pairs

The dichotomy of life has always intrigued and puzzled people. They have tried to explain this phenomenon by saying the world is made up from pairs, just as they were born from a father and a mother, and themselves expect to marry. Some examples of these associated pairs are Heaven and Hell. Hell and Hades (or Jahannam and Jahim in Arabic, by some alliterative coincidence). Heaven and Earth, night and day, heat and cold, light and dark.

Halal and haram are alliterated twin principles too that appear in 5:3 and other places in the Qur'an; dividing things into the permitted and forbidden is common for mnemonic purposes. The 'hallowed' or haram is almost like the concept of taboo which the West borrowed from the Polynesians following the voyages of Captain Cook to the Pacific in the late eighteenth century. The 'sacred' or mugaddas is a similar state: Jerusalem is al-Quds al-Sharif or 'the Eminent Sanctuary' which Muslims can no longer visit freely or without sorrow. Consciousness and the Unseen give us dualistic principles for knowledge as well. Bodily pains contrasted with physical pleasures form another duality linked to Heaven and Hell in our minds. So good and evil form another pair (4:xi) as we find them throughout God's creation: they both come ultimately from God, but are not coequal (5:xviii). We need to turn evil into good (7: xii) since they all derive from God (5:xiii). God may have permitted the presence of evil, but He did not command its existence "Where is night when the day arrives?" asked the Prophet rhetorically when he was questioned on this matter of good and evil. We also hear: The blind and the sighted are not equal nor are darkness and light nor a shady nook and a heatwave. The living and the dead are not alike. God lets anvone He wishes listen, while you will not make those in their graves hear. (Originator 35:1922). If there were other gods in either [Heaven or Earth] besides God [Alone], they would both dissolve in chaos. (Prophets 21:22) This concern for twin principles led to the so-called "Persian error" which the Albigensians practised in southern France until one of the first crusades wiped them out in the twelfth century, the onset of the great pogroms of Europe, as that continent flexed its muscles to practise genocide. Manicheism, as it is called formally, had been brought to western Europe by Roman soldiers before the fall of their empire, if it had not been a remnant from ancient Indo-European folk religion, and a sister of Celtic Druidism. The Bogomils in the Balkans formed another dualistic cult like it; in the fourteenth century they welcomed the Turks and became Muslims to escape the political and religious tyranny of both Rome and Byzantium as architects to the Ottoman empire.

In Islam the sin of dualism is part of Association or shirk, and thus is unpardonable (4:48, 116). This "Persian error" considers the presence of evil to be necessary, as are the other pairs like Light and Darkness, Night and Daylight: al-layl wa al-nahar of 2:164 etc. There has been overmuch study of Jewish and Christian sources for the antecedents of Islam, but little of Manicheism and Zarathustrianism.

How to be both artistic and correct with the dual in Arabic becomes a syntactic problem when it comes to translation into English. A dual of sorts is found in the English words "either" and "both", but English has no adequate inflections for expressions like "both of them", "the two" etc., except with parents and other married couples, such as represented in the Catholic and Greek Orthodox churches respectively. In this case Islam benefited from the industrious Slavs and Albanians who joined Islam, and who contributed statesmen and with Adam and Eve (7:ii). However 'both' is generally the best distinguishing word in English, with verbs and nouns as well. Its use occurs with Moses and Aaron in 20:ii ("they both said"); also 10:viii and 26:ii, and with David and Solomon (21:vi, 27:ii).

A concern for light comes up, as this is contrasted with darkness (2:xxxiv): "God ... brings out of darkness into Light" (2:xxxiv, 13:i and especially 24:v). Bitter cold and darkness make the night seem hideous; though night can also comfort, since it acts as a "garment" (25:v). So do good and evil as we find them throughout God's creation, we have noticed.

Sex of course is based on dualism: "He has placed two pairs for every kind of fruit on it" (13:i).

becomes evident that they have not been compiled by believers. One can tell this by the approximation of many otherwise clear Islamic terms, as well as the prejudice or worry shown by outsiders, even in Wehr, which in any case was translated from the German. These modern lexicographers have never sat in a mosque, so concerned are they with Christian ceremonies and festivals. Penrice's dictionary and glossary of Qur'ánic terms is helpful, but it too must be used with caution, for it is overladen with nineteenth century missionary terms. Havas is clearly Catholic, and at times abysmal in its ignorance of Islam. Professor Izutsu of Tokyo has best shown why it is so difficult to translate each term adequately. He is to be commended for this, but then he is not a Westerner, full of their ingrained prejudices.

Let us discuss some terms in more detail. For instance, with the shades of meaning in the root to 'remember', 'recall', and also,

The fascinating matter of root meanings in Arabic is a linguistic matter which I will now deal with in this section on terminology. As soon as one begins to use our current Arabic dictionaries, it

Let us discuss some terms in more detail. For instance, with the shades of meaning in the root to 'remember', 'recall', and also, perhaps surprisingly, 'male'; in the II or causative form "dh kk r" it means to 'remind'; and in the V, which is the reflexive of II or the causative, to 'reflect', 'bear in mind' (for one's own benefit). The root gives us as-salam meaning 'peace' as a greeting to persons; as-Islam for 'surrender' and 'submission' for the colonialist non-believer (infidel is how he would call himself elsewhere), but for us,

'commitment' to God Alone; and Muslim as the one 'who has so surrendered' or 'committed himself to the Deity, the man who lives 'at peace.' For Islam, the word 'commitment' is more positive, active and responsible than are 'surrender' or 'submission' which the Orientalists and missionaries use; we Muslims have a right to choose our own terminology in English. We must forge our own words for our terms and parables like those about Satan. Ishmael.

Jesus. Diabolis etc.

'Focus' and 'Source' for everything. How should reverent Muslims name Him? God has a Hundred of the "Finest Names" (59:end). The names and attributes for God are many: "All-Knowing" in our Germanic roots becomes the "Omniscient" in European Latinized parlance, which has given us other terms like "circumnambulation", "genuflexion", "ablution", as well as "submission" and 'surrender" as meanings for Islam.

Training for this purpose will come through study and spiritual exercise. Let us therefore discuss some secular virtues. I use the word 'achievement' rather than the more old-fashioned term 'triumph' for fawz. The virtues themselves are: first of all, birr, as the basic one which we meet in 2:xxii for the first time; 'righteousness' sounds too

The majestic figure of God Alone or Allah forms the capstone of Islamic worship and thought. He is as-Samad of Chapter 112:2. the heart. It might be 'beneficient' in Latinized jargon, for bene means 'good' or 'well' that is similar to khayr, while ficent means 'doing [it]'. The abstract noun in the causative IV form is ihsan or 'kindness' and parallel in morphological pattern (IV vn.) to Islam, and iman ('faith' or 'belief'). The ideal was static. Reverence calls for restraint before things holy, giving sanctity to attitudes. Rushd or rashad is the social ideal of 'common sense' or 'normal behavior'. We find it in the name old-fashioned now. Muhsin is 'kindly', a concept that comes from the of the twelfth-century Spanish Arab philosopher Ibn-Rushd, who prepared the text of Aristotle for the scholastic teachers in the rising European universities of the following century.

Similarly kuffr is 'dishelief' 'ingratitude' and a kaffr is a 'disheliever':

Similarly *kufi*r is 'disbelief, 'ingratitude' and a kafir is a 'disbeliever'; shirk means 'associating [someone else with God],' and a mushrik is such an 'associator'; taghut are those 'arrogant' persons who deliberately come between man and his God. Al-muttaqin are 'the heedful', 'those who do their duty', while taqwa is the quality of one's duty' before God and man. The moral basis of the new state in Madina is seen in the 'realm' or mulk in what we now know as 'control' today, and this can be used both as a noun and a verb: "O God, Holder of Control!" (3:26) The passage Laysa al-birr..., is rendered "It is not virtue..."; 'virtue' rather than 'piety' for this concept seems in order. Al-fasigun are 'perverse', 'corrupt' or 'immoral' people (2:xii). We should notice how the terms Heaven and Hell are alliterative in both English and Arabic (al-ianna and al-iahannam), to which we might add iahim which I have rendered 'Hades' to maintain the poetical effect. I also want to keep ad-dunva and al-'alamin separate as this 'nearer [world]' and 'the (greater) Universe' respectively, so they can be separate in the text and in the reader's mind. The latter is really a plural in Arabic, but I have unified this concept in English. Jinn and Ruh are two terms for 'sprite(s)' and 'Spirit' respectively. Jinn is often rendered as 'spirit' too, although these are really separate concepts; I am rendering the former 'sprite(s)' and leaving the second as 'Spirit' or 'Breath' for Ruh as we see in 17:x (beginning). Sprites or jinn, as a term, is handled wretchedly by most commentators, because it represents a plural in itself, while iinni is the proper singular, Jinn are what are called elves or fairies in English folklore, and mean the personified powers of the supernatural which are vaguely sensed by less sophisticated people, whose forces we meet in Robert Frost's "Mending Wall". These sprites found in the title of Chapter 72, were made from the glow in fire (55:i), like the angels or Diabolis (7:ii). There are foreign-based words like mil, the Roman 'mile' or a "thousand" paces: the sirat from Latin strata meaning 'street', its English derived descendant: qasr from castrum which is Latin too. which via the Arabic, gives Spanish its alcazar (as well as Castro); thawr or 'bull' has its memories of the Minotaur in Crete, and los

'castles' that we see in the night sky, which give us 'borough' in English and 'bourgeois" in European sociology and politics.

Many expressions are given an ironic cast in some translations like "grand vizier" for the Turkish prime minister, when a simpler term like

'prime minister' or 'premier' would take it out of the Arabian Nights and make it sound more appropriate and fitting for statecraft. "No burdened [soul] shall bear another's burden" (6:xx etc.) shows what a cabinet minister carries in his portfolio. Other Turkish or Anglo-Indian forms are "muezzin" and "kismet". Crusading terms like "infidel" for the non-believer or misbeliever, one who flashes "scimitars" instead of waving swords. Spellings of this sort are 'Kaaba" and Port "Said"

as if this latter were the past participle of our verb to "say"; they should read instead: 'Kaba" and 'Said".

The etymology of the word "worship" in English should be borne in mind, as an exercise giving 'value' or 'worth' to superior beings, what we might call reverence, and thus linking it to 'ibada' in Arabic. The true worshipper or 'abd (96:i) we meet in many Islamic names (and which is reduced to the ironic "Abdul" or 'servant of the... ' in Orientalist jargon exactly like "admiral" who is literally 'prince of the...', we must presume "of the sea").

There is also much prejudice in many of the Orientalist weasel words such as the term "Moorish" in connection with Spanish Islam or the French Foreign Legion. Jinete meaning 'horseman' or 'rider' and

French Foreign Legion. Jinete meaning 'horseman' or 'rider' and zanahoria for 'carrot' are the only truly Moorish or Berber words in the common Spanish lexicon, while true Arabic ones occur there frequently; yet they are all called "Moorish". What does the term

Mauretania lay north of the Atlas Mountains in Roman times, and is probably derived from a Phoenician cognate with the modern Maghrib or 'place where the sun sets' or "West". Spelling and Phonetics Throughout this translation I have consistently used the Library Congress system of transliteration. This is essentially the same as that employed by the Royal Asiatic Society of London and the Board Geographic Names in Washington, which ran into much incongruity during its survey of the Middle East and North Africa. A standardization of Arabic nomenclature is needed for the countries. which were under different colonial rule. Shatt al-'Arab formed by the confluence of the Tigris and the Euphrates upstream from Basra southern Iraq becomes Chott al-Jarid in Tunisia and Chott ach-Chargui in Algeria. The word for 'mountain' jabal, has half a dozen spellings as crosses the map of the Arab world. Besides the colonial spellings as crosses the map of the Arab world. Besides the colonial styles used by the European occupiers in their former colonies, we run into Egyptian a Pakistani spellings of Arabic words, neither of which are standard Arabic. The Spanish-style "Tetuan" in the former Spanish zone of northern Morocco has recently become "Tetouan" because King Hasan or "Hasasan" speaks French. This is pure verbal baroque, as French Orientilsm too often is.

The spellings of 'Moslem", "Kaaba" (for Ka'ba) have a true beginning in ignorance, but they never seem to point any way to salvation. The spelling "Koran" is often used by non-Muslims and western-trained Muslims, the same people as use the spelling "Moslems", as the late Professor Hitti did in his book Islam in his incredible quotation: "An old fashioned Moslem (sic) goes through the legal ablutions before he open the book" (pp. 2627)! What sort of Muslim did he get his information from? When this is pronounced with a voiced "s", it gives us 'Mozlum" which means the exact opposite of a man of peace, for dhulm or zulm is 'harm', 'evil' etc. A "Moslem" thus means a 'cruel' individual like an Oriental tyrant. Fortunately Arabic itself has a standard orthography and has had one for 140 years: it is only the ear of the former colonial master or the present glib newspaper or television reporter which needs training or to be eliminated altogether. English moreover is a deficient language in its use of the Roman alphabet, while French is even worse, or perverse. Some aspects of Arabic spelling should be indicated clearly, and not confused especially with long vowels and emphatic or velarized consonants: t, d, dh (or z), s and the Similar needs exist in phonetics. The sounds of hamza and 'ayn are two difficult letters to transcribe consistently, as well as to explain the uninitiated. The first or hamza is the glottal stop which gives English the need of its alternate indefinite article "an" in order to avoid between words that begin with a vowel (as we bear in the childish for "I want a apple"). The 'ayn is the voiced pharyngeal fricative, occasional I. These consonants all express phonemic and semantic differentiation, and so they should be indicated clearly in some other Semitic alphabets are not usually indicated in the Roman transliteration that many people use; nevertheless they require some representation, especially students may learn more easily. The words Saudi Arabia and Port Said are two common examples of this confusion; many people pronounce common "Saudi" as two syllables only, even newscasters who might know better, while 'sa'id'

the Prophet's voungest wife 'A'isha both 'avn and hamza appear together within the same word which is known fairly commonly but almost always spelled merely approximately (it is the feminine present participle of the verb ash, to 'live', and thus means a 'living' woman Long and short vowels moreover should be indicated clearly and not confused: these distinctions are basic to Arabic prosody and especially proper Our'anic diction. Luse the grave accent of French " "to show alif magsura, or the long "ou" representing a hidden i or y in the root as in names Musa or Isa. The digraph "ou" is a hopeless representation because it cannot show whether the Arabic vowel is long or short. Emphatic velarize d consonants all have phonemic and semantic differentiation, and so they should also be expressed clearly. Perhaps capital letters might be used for typewriters without any symbols for such foreign accents. Many booksellers, for instance, do so. Are Eastern non-Arab Muslims able to explain these sounds speakers of English, especially to North American children who educational system has little contact with the Middle East or with foreign language instruction? Do Pakistanis hear these sounds clearly, or can Egyptians explain them to young Americans or Canadians? It is likewise grotesque for English-speaking persons to be advised to say a "z" or "s" the voiced "dh" (i) or the voiceless "th" which they already say "they" and "other", or in "think" and "with", English speakers have enough difficulties already in learning a foreign language without having an unnecessary one thrust upon them.

Thus we come to Style and Mood

Qur'ánic message in clear contemporary English. This task has thus been tackled gradually as I read the Arabic text over and over for more two decades, trying to find an English cadence for it. This must not falsify message but should allow fresh words and concepts to enter the English speaking mind and emotions. The English-speaking world already has a great tradition of reading scripture. We have had a long tradition of Psalm and Gospel reading in our Protestant communities which can lead us along the way, and give us a sense of direction or manner. Some Qur'anic translators have tried match this mood by making their versions archaic or Jacobean, although this is not the means to achieve reverence in our youth, who understand what they are hearing or reciting. They need

Christian, Orientalist and even some Muslim ones at times, in order to provide a fresh outlook on the Qur'an to move it out into the English-speaking consciousness. I am interested only in stating the future generations. I should like to duplicate the terse vet vibrant quality of the original Qur'anic message. We must make our message simple and go back to the primitive Arabic meaning wherever this is possible; but the whole vocabulary will have to be made over in painstaking fashion. We need to take a fresh look at the original text and explore it for new content and present-day application.

comprehensible vet reverent English which will be respected by

Matters of style thus come up. There is as much use of the abadan or 'never' in the chapter on Light (an-Nur) 24 as there is in Poe's The Raven. "Among his signs are... " begins in 30:iii and gives introductory refrain to each section of that chapter. There is a narrative quality to The Ants (an-Namal 27 which is succinct, especially in Lot's story following verse 57. A phrase is repeated at the end of each section in this chapter: "Your Lord is the Powerful.

the Merciful", as well as in [Drawn up in] Ranks (al-Safat) 37. In 16:xiv. the style becomes rapid, as if one were being spoken to, as prophet in turn, since these are examples to show how each separate messenger had been called a poet when he was literally inspired. The allegorical or analogous verses mentioned in 3:i and the parables in 2:xxxv are important. The style in 20:ii reminds us that the Qur'an is narrated by the Deity, and has been received directly through inspiration.

Style creates mood: rhymed prose meets the ear, to offer us diction. As a corollary, this edition is arranged in paragraphs, verses or lines so the reader, in both public and private, is quided to the rhythm and movement of the passage. Saj' (rhymed prose) is ancient, oral punctuation; it tells the reader where to pause during his recitation so that his listeners can hear the message reverently, and understand it more easily. Non-English speakers often read English translations without realizing where to make the proper pauses needed for reverent attention. We find this rhythm in Chapters This Land (al-Balad) 90 and Morning Bright (ad-Duha) 93 as well as in the two final ones, Dawn (al-Falag) 113 and Mankind (an-Nas) 114, which I have well as in chapter 28 (al-Qasas) when Moses sees the Burning Bush. We have similar narrative at times in 25 The Standard (or Criterion) (al-Furqan) and 26 Poets (ash-Shuara,) telling about Moses' visit to Pharaoh's court. The style throughout this chapter (cf. viii) is rapid, and the passages are almost the same as they describe each not attempted to reproduce. The contrasting English words "night" and "daylight" rhyme, while Heaven and Hell or Hades alliterate; but these must not become cacophonic or a jingle, because such is not within the spirit of the Qur'án.

The present version has been arranged either in prose form or as rhythmic free verse, depending on the nature of the Arabic original. I have laid the more lyric sections in the form of free verse and rough stanzas. An ecstatic quality is found in the early Meccan chapters

The first attempt for my original presentation was the well-known Cedar Rapids edition called Selections from the Noble Reading. That slender yet beautiful volume was edited over a decade ago, and slowly it has received recognition, especially in North American

In the dozen years that have passed since the Cedar Rapids edition first appeared, I have kept polishing my text, comparing it with other versions, and bringing the religious concepts into focus more clearly. The task will never cease for as one generation grows and changes, so does its language and method of response. Only the Arabic is eternal, and the present work is merely an attempt to give the present generation of Muslims in times in His plural of majesty.

Chanting and Recitation

"Cantillation" is a quaint word that has crept into Orientalist studies on Islam to describe the traditional manner of reciting the Qur'án for public worship. Others of this sort are "circumambulation" for walking around the Kaba, "submission" or "surrender" for the believer's

The Qur'án was called the divine "Reading" of Islam and it exists precisely for that purpose. It was generally read out loud and most frequently from memory after thorough training, the usual method of reproducing sacred books which is still in use today. One Part or juz' a day can be recited during Ramadan, which lasts thirty days in all; these thirty Parts are indicated with capital Roman numerals in the upper lefthand corner on each page of this edition.

As it claims, the Qur'án is easy to memorize, and is divided up so that it can be read in sittings, or it can be read straight through (17:106). This is clear from the canon itself. Mercier and Arberry are the only non-Muslim

Western scholars who have approached this matter of Qur'ánic recital, and we refer you to them for the time being; the late Professor Mercier's liturgical preface on prosody to his anthology in some ways is better than Arberry's which is expressed in the commitment to live 'in peace'; "genuflection" for kneeling in prayer, and "ablution" for washing before it. Those who use the terms must never have sat quietly in a mosque waiting for divine service to begin; or if they did so, it must have seemed unusual to them. Yet English has a long tradition in this field with Gospel reading and the responsive recital of the Psalms.

In preliterary times, and especially before the invention of the printing press, public recitation was the way most scriptures were taught and memorized. Chanting was performed in a printless culture so that others could hear the sacred text, and thus participate in "reading" it. We should try to capture this effect again. Before the invention of the records and cassettes are made of their art. As the liturgy was worked out, the chant developed just as the Gregorian chant did in Catholic countries. This had probably been worked out originally in the cities of Mecca and Madina, the twin Haramavn of Islam. Few musical instruments are mentioned in the Qur'an, only the trumpet (as-sur) in 18:99 and bugle (an-nagur) in 74:8. None are rhythmic or percussive although some drums may have existed, and marks meet the eye in reading the printed page, In divine worship these indications become a part of ritual; the image or visual formulae are thus important. Worship means devotion, as this is seen in the verb to 'devote' oneself, to give a vow to, for it means to render the sort of 'service' which we find outlined in The Opening chapter of the Qur'an itself, the Fatiha (1:5): " You do we worship and

You do we call on for help". The Universe moves on rhythm, which is part of its reality. Consciousness and the Unseen show that God is though the Prophet himself was declared not to be a poet, and rejected the term (52:29 and 69:41). Cadence and rhythm mold the phrase and sentence: God's hovering spirit can thus be sensed. Phonograph records, tapes or cassettes now help in learning to chant, either for listening or in order to learn the passage by heart; they provide the best contemporary way for the uninitiated to hear this art. Any new reader, especially a fresh convert, needs to find the cadence when he is meeting this for the first time. For this reason. my translation has not been designed for memorizing but rather for reading from the printed page. The Qur'an is literally untranslatable: each time one returns to it, he finds new meanings and fresh ways of interpreting it: the messages are endless for it is a living Book. If this is the first time that you are reading the Qur'an, then you may Read!) Here we find the beginning of that respect for reading and learning on which the later Islamic commonwealth was built up. His

Muslims do not need to "cantillate", but to read the Qur'an reverently.

A traditional method of reading our holy Book has been built up for this purpose in Islamic countries: in North America we will have to work out manner of our own. In the East, the Book is intoned or chanted somewhat like the Gregorian chant or the method of reciting charge of being a poet is found in 52:29. Muhammad clearly understood he was not one (36:69), although prophets are

In divine worship this becomes the full dhikr or liturgic 'Mention' of God's names and attributes: "Whenever We read it follow in its reading", we are told in 75:18, for the Qur'an has reached us in "clear Arabic" (16:103). A true ecstatic quality can be felt in the early Meccan chapters, at the outset of the Prophet's missions.

The inimitability or i'iaz of the Qur'an is stated: "Do not make up an parables about God:" (16:74): one should never compare God with anything. "No falsehood shall approach it from either in front of it or behind it" (41:40).

Layout and Editing

It need hardly be said that writing materials were scarce in the ancient world, let alone in seventh-century Arabia, and Muhammad could have everything copied down verbatim as he received it through divine revelation. Men's breasts were important depositories for a limited time their memories were more developed than our children's are today.

exemplary. A committee was then set up to establish the canonical text of the Qur'an by the third 'rightly guided" caliph or Successor to the Prophet, 'Uthman ibn-'Affan, The commissioners worked at compiling the scattered Qur'anic document during the years 650-655. Once this task was finished and the canon established. Uthman then gave one copy each to Mecca and Madina, and sent others to the new administrative centres of Basra and Kufa in Iraq. Kufa is said to have possessed a variant much later. Uthman kept the original papers in Madina for himself and the authorities there: this copy disappeared into the imperial German archives towards the end of the First World War when both Germany and Turkey suffered defeat, but may be in the Topkapi Museum in Istanbul today. Mention of old codices like the Kitab al-Masahif of lbn-Abit-Dawud, together with a collection of the variant readings can be found in Professor Arthur Jeffery's Materials for the History of the Text of the Qur'an (Leiden 1938, and Watt-Bell, p. 40). The layout of my translation has been reached through a gradual process of trial and error which came chiefly so that I could locate significant material for myself, which I needed to refer to. Layout and editing are important just as ancient sai' resembles the wild pigeon's broken cooing. Rhymed prose meets the ear, but since the invention of the printing press, it is punctuation and paragraphs that meet the reader's eve. Verse form and punctuation are both matters of literary broken cooing. Rhymed prose meets the ear, but since the invention of the printing press, it is punctuation and paragraphs that meet the reader's eye. Verse form and punctuation are both matters of literary structure; when the rhyme shifts in the Qur'án, it is shown roughly in this version by using different lines and paragraphs in English, so that the reader can achieve a similar rhythmic effect, especially for public reading or recitation.

Layout on the page may seem more important than rhyming today,

Further problems were those of paragraphing and capitalization so as to follow English usage. This use of capitals is employed to ensure a mood of reverence for the name and mention (dhikr) of God, especially with younger or non-Muslim readers thus the names of God, including the pronouns You and Your. He. Him and His etc., are kept distinct in this work. Capital Roman numerals refer to one of the 30 more-or-less equal PARTS into which the Qur'an has been traditionally divided for the purpose of continuous recitation. An Index or Concordance will come later because it will consist o perhaps 2000 pages. I wish eventually to achieve a useful whole with one use language, especially when it is the elevated expression of the Qur'án? Is it possible to render such lofty style into foreign tonaue?

This new version of The Noble Reading which I am presenting has a serious purpose, which is to make its clear message available for the English-speaking world at the end of the twentieth Christian, or the beginning of the Islamic fifteenth century, which started in the last weeks Of 1980 A.D. This task is comparable to translating any great classic like Homer, Virgil, Quijote or Faust, since it involves a transfer of true literature into the medium of a parallel culture. It is a problem more for the quality which must be matched in English than for any inherent difficulty or obscurity in the text itself.

This present version is not addressed so much to scholars as to godly minds and especially to those who are growing up speaking English, and thus need a simple, clear text of the historic writ to guide them. The Qur'an itself says: "We have not sent any messenger unless he was to explain to them in his folk's own tongue" (14:i). For this reason, any attempt at translation has validity if each nation is to receive its message in its own language. It should be a document one can read, and it also, if possible, must offer a basis for ongoing research. We should respect the sacred text, vet interpret it accurately and reverently. This is not an intellectual game

The Qur'án could be considered untranslatable, because each time one returns to the Arabic text, he finds new meanings and fresh ways of interpreting it. It is a living document. I have at all times tried to find the simplest word so the Muslim child can understand it easily, and thereby feel strengthened by it. Any translation which is to have a use in divine worship must be simple yet noble, and not overladen with higher criticism. No translation should confuse, but teach and make but has a serious purpose.

things holy, we do not need criticism so much as constructive explanation. I myself must remember to act as a Westerner before this document in order to keep its meaning from being blurred. It must be translated respectfully for our own worship, and so that we and others can understand its message. The forms of piety are important, as well as the thought and mood which they engender. In our faith this leads to direct contact with God, with no need of any intercession, a condition achieved through literal and moral purification, and through prayer.

The Islamic world is growing again, its centre is widening, and Muslims everywhere, especially throughout the English-speaking part of it, need a version of their Scripture they can confidently give to their children as well as to friends who have not yet captured the full message of Islam. Our aim is to give pride to young English-speaking Muslims in North America especially, and also in Britain, the West Indies like Trinidad and Guyana, and the English-speaking message of Islam. Our aim is to give pride to young English-speaking Muslims in North America especially, and also in Britain, the West Indies like Trinidad and Guyana, and the English-speaking parts of Africa. It can also be used by college students and interested non-Muslims who want a contemporary translation of this great world classic.

I have tried to be as objective as possible, but yet to provide the basis for evaluation by English-speaking readers who know no Arabic. This should make it usable so the intelligent person engaged in research can quote the Qur'án in today's English. There is a century of the Hijra, and this must occur in the English-speaking world. If my translation has any merit, it will simply be that it is intended for North Americans, so young American and Canadian Muslims can understand, when they are still teenagers or younger. what God told Muhammad fourteen hundred years ago in Arabia. with no artifice or bombast, but in clear, simple and I hope beautiful English, Otherwise our message will be lost here in America. The nex t generation will speak English, and few of them will take the time or the trouble to learn Arabic properly, so someone has to put it into the language of the next two or three hundred years. It would be a waste of time at present to do any work on Sunday school materials until we have a good copy of the Qur'an we can trust. For this reason, several years ago I decided to dedicate time at the beginning of each morning to accomplishing this, so it would be done properly. This is the basic need for any propaganda in Islam on this continent, and until we have a version in good English, we will continue to read translations which evoke no reverence or beauty in the minds of the listeners. We also need a good chapbook on prayers. Young American Muslims simply do not know their prayers, and that is the need in any "programmed learning" for Islam. But it must be done in Arabic, with the original text, in Romanized Arabic so those who cannot read the script can approximate the sound (and especially, avoid the dialectal variants one gets from Egyptian, Lebanese or Pakistani material), and again, a decent translation of the same into good English. This should be done with photos of the positions of prayer, and a tape

Some direct problems of translation might bear discussion at this point. Through the original Arabic we learn what Muhammad was striving to express to his followers, but our problem is to catch how he might want this expressed for the people of today who speak English, and to translate it so that an intelligent and reverent American, especially in the teenage group, can grasp the message which the Prophet received fourteen centuries ago in Arabia. Most versions give one the sensation of being thrust upon the reader heart of future generations of English-speaking Muslims. I do not want to render a traditional paraphrase, nor to make a display of erudition with so many notes that they will confuse the younger student: notes must be such that they will help even the random reader. One's language should be meaningful above all, and its beauty come forth from the meaning, using the English of today in all through the translator's own mentality and purpose, a failing I cannot avoid completely. However, anything translated must lie close to the

of its richness, with both our Germanic and Latin roots. Our texts have been vitiated, and higher criticism has not led many to the faith. However if the Arabic is clear (16:xiv, 26:xl), then why does it need to be worried over so intensely? Most renditions have been so antiquated that they make the Qur'an and Islam appear to have little connection with living circumstances. Thus I have tried to avoid strictly Christian terms like 'infidel." "piety."

"sin." etc., except where such are unavoidable. The Qur'an possesses a definite language and style which becomes clearer as one works along with it. One English word if possible should be chosen in all of its range of meaning for each Arabic concept, using

Because the chapter is quite long, it continues through two and a half of the thirty Parts into which the Qur'an is traditionally divided, and comprises more than one-tenth of the whole text of the holy Book.

and their hearing, while over their sight there hangs a covering; they will have severe torment. 8. Some people say: "We believe in God and the Last Day." while they are not believers. They would like to deceive God and those who believe, while they merely outwit themselves and do not even notice it! Their hearts contain malice so God has increased their [share of] malice. They will have painful torment because they have makers, but they are not aware of it. When someone tells them: "Believe just as other people believe," they say: "Are we to believe just as simpletons believe?" Surely they are the fools even though they do not realize it!

and have clean-living spouses there. They will live in it for ever!

26. God does not hesitate to compare things to a mosquito nor to anything bigger than it. Those who believe realize that it is the Truth from their Lord, while those who disbelieve say: "What does God want in such a comparison?" He lets so many go astray through it, and guides many by means of it. Yet only immoral persons are led astray by it! Those who break God's covenant after they have pledged to keep it, and sever whatever God has ordered to be joined, and act depraved on earth, will be the losers. How can you disbelieve in God when you once were dead and He furnished you with life? Soon He will let you die once more, then bring you back to life again; then unto Him will you return! He is the One Who has created everything that is on earth for you; then He soared up to Heaven and perfected it as seven heavens. He is Aware of everything!

When We rescued you from Pharaoh's household, they had been subjecting you to the worst torment, slaving your sons and sparing your women. That meant such awful testing by your Lord! So We divided the sea for you and saved you, while We drowned Pharaoh's household as you were looking on. When We appointed forty nights for Moses, you took the Calf after he Ihad left], and you became wrongdoers. Then later on We still overlooked this for you, so that you might act grateful when We gave Moses the Book and the Standard so that you might be guided. When Moses told his folk: "My people, you have wronged yourselves in accepting the Calf, so turn towards your Maker in repentance and kill your own [quilty] selves:

that will be better for you with your Maker. He will (then) relent towards you, since He is the Relenting, the Merciful."

55. So you said: "Moses, we will never believe in you until we see

God openly," the Thunderbolt caught you while you were (all) looking on. Then We raised you up after you had died so that you might act themselves whom they harmed. 58. So We said: "Enter this town and eat wherever you may wish in it at your leisure. Enter the gate [walking] on your knees and say: 'Relieve us!" We will forgive you your mistakes and give even more to those who act kindly. Yet those who do wrong altered the Statement to something than what had been told them, so We sent a blight down from Heaven on those who did wrong since they had acted so immorally. 60. Thus Moses looked for something for his people to drink, and said: "Strike the rock with your staff!": so twelve springs gushed forth from it. Each group of people knew its drinking spot: "Eat and drink from God's provisions, and do not cause any havoc on earth, as if vou were mischief-makers." 61. When you said: "Moses, we'll never stand one [kind of] food!

72. When you killed a soul and guarreled over it. God was bound to bring forth whatever you had hidden. We said: "Strike him with some part of it." Thus God revives the dead and shows you His signs so you may use your reason. Even after that your hearts were hardened and became stony, and even harder yet, for there are some stones which rivers gush out of and there are others which water comes forth from when they split open and there are still others which collapse out of awe for God. God is not oblivious of what you are doina! 75. Are you so keen for them to believe for your own sake while a group of them have already heard God's word? Then they tamper with it once they have studied it, and they realize it. Whenever they meet with those who believe, they say: "We believe!", while when some of them go off privately with one another, they say: "Will you report something to the which God has disclosed to you, so they may dispute with you about it in the presence of your Lord? Don't you use vour reason?" 77. Do they not realize that God knows anything they hide and anything they display? Some of them are illiterate and do not know the Book except to say "Amen" [to it]. They are merely guessing. It will be too bad for those who write the Book down in their own hand[writing], then say: "This is from God!", so they may sell it for a paltry price. It will be too bad for them because of what their hands have written. Too bad for whatever they earn! They say: "The Fire will only touch us for several days."

SAY: "Have you taken it on oath from God? God never breaks His word. Or are you saying something about God which you really do no know?" Rather anyone who commits evil will find his mistake will hem him in; those will become inmates of the Fire; they will remain in it for ever. Those who believe and perform honorable deeds will be inhabitants of the Garden; they will live in it for ever.

83. Thus We made an agreement with the Children of Israel: "You shall serve God Alone, and treat your parents kindly, and [also] near relatives orphans and the needy, and say kind things to [other] people, and keep up prayer and pay the welfare tax"; then you turned lies on disbelievers! How wretchedly have they sold their own souls by disbelieving in what God has sent down to them, begrudging that God should send down some of His bounty on any of His servants someone tells them: "Believe in what God has sent down;" they say: "We believe [only] in what has been sent down to us," while they disbelieve in what has come after that, even though it is the Truth confirming what they already have.

267. You who believe, spend some of the wholesome things you may have acquired as well as anything We produce from the earth for you. Do not choose the poorest parts of it for anything you spend [in taxes or on charity] which you yourselves would only accept disdainfully. Know that God is Transcendent, Praiseworthy, Satan threatens you with poverty and orders you to misbehave sexually, while God promises you forgiveness from Himself as well as bounty. God is Boundless, Aware. He gives wisdom to anyone He wishes, and anyone He gives wisdom to, receives an abundant boon. Yet only prudent persons will reflect on it.

Such [procedure] is more equitable so far as God is concerned and it makes for more valid testimony, as well as reducing the chances for doubt: unless it is some transaction handled on the spot that you pass around among yourselves, in which case it will not be held against you for not writing it down. Call in witnesses whenever you engage in trade, and let no literate man nor any witness feel obligated if you do so; that would be immoral on your part. Heed God, for God teaches you! 156. You who believe, do not be like those who disbelieve and tell their brethren when they travel around the earth or are out on some campaign: "If they had been with us, they would not have died nor been killed." so that God places that [sort of] despair in their hearts. God gives life and brings death: God is Observant of anything you do. If you should be killed for God's sake or die, forgiveness and mercy from God are better than what they are gathering; yet if you should die or be killed, you will still be summoned [to appear] before God. 159. However since mercy from God does exist, you have been easy on them. If you had been harsh and cruel-hearted, they would have dispersed from around you. Pardon them, seek forgiveness for them and consult with them on the matter. Yet once you have reached a decision, then rely on God: God loves those who are reliant.

160. If God supports you (all), there is no one who will overcome you; while if He should forsake you, who is there (left) to support you later on? On God should believers rely!

161. No prophet should hold back anything; and anyone who defrauds [someone else] will bring along whatever he has been

163. There are ranks with God, and God is Observant of whatever they are doing. God has benefited believers whenever He sent them a messenger from among themselves, to recite His verses to them and purify them, and teach them the Book and wisdom, whereas previously they had been in plain error. Yet whenever some disaster strikes you, such as has struck you twice as heavy already, you have said: "What's this for?" SAY: 'It is your own doing: God is Capable of everything."

It is not God's role to acquaint you with the Unseen, but God chooses anyone He wishes from among His messengers. 185. Every soul will be tasting death: you will merely be repaid your earnings on Resurrection Day. Anyone who is snatched from the Fire and shown into the Garden will have triumphed. What does worldly life mean except the enjoyment of illusion? You will be tested by means of your wealth and through your own selves, and you will hear much abuse from those who were given the Book before you, as well as those who associate [others with God]. If you are patient and do your duty, that is what will determine matters. 187. When God made an agreement with those who were given the Book [saving]: "You shall explain it to mankind and not conceal it." they tossed it away behind their backs and sold it for a paltry price. How wretched was what they bought [instead]! Do not consider those who feel delighted about what they have been given and love to be praised for something they have not done, do not reckon they [have found] any means to triumph over torment. They will have painful torment! God holds control over Heaven and Earth: God is Capable of everything! 190. In the creation of Heaven and Earth, and the alternation between night and daylight, there are signs for prudent persons who remember God while standing, sitting and [lving] on their sides, and meditate on the creation of Heaven and Earth [by saving]: "Our Lord, You have not created this in vain! However those who heed their Lord will have gardens through which rivers flow, to live in for ever as a welcome from God. What God possesses is best for the virtuous.

199. Some People of the Book do believe in God and what has been sent down to you and what has been sent down to them, acting reverently towards God. They do not sell God's signs for a paltry price: those will receive their wages from their Lord; God is Prompt in reckoning! Should you have a child, then they will have an eighth of anything you leave, after settling any legacy or debt. If either a man or a woman bequeaths anything to more distant kin while he still has a brother or sister, then each one of them will have a sixth. If you want to exchange one wife for another, and have given one of them a large sum of money, do not hold back any of it. Would you withhold it through slander and open sin? How can you hold it back when you have had intercourse with each other, and they have made a solemn agreement with you? Do not marry any women whom your fathers have already married, unless this is a thing of the past; it is a shocking act and disgusting, and the worst possible way. 23. Forbidden to you [in marriage] are your mothers, your [own] daughters, your sisters, your aunts on your father's side as well as your aunts on your mother's side, and your brother's and your sister's daughter your foster mothers and your foster sisters, your mothers-inlaw and step daughters who are under your guardianship [since their mothers are wives of yours with whom you have consummated marriage (however if you have not consummated it with them, it will

Each one of you has ties to others, so marry them off with their family's consent and give them their marriage portions decently as matrons rather than taking them on as mistresses, nor having lany secret affairs with them as girlfriends. Once they are so married off and should they then commit some sexual offence, they should have half the punishment that fordinaryl matrons would receive. That goes for any of you who worries lest he may not control his (sexual) impulses: however it is better for you to discipline yourselves. God is Forgiving. Merciful. 26. Whenever someone tells them: "Come to what God has sent down, and to the Messenger," you will see hypocrites barring the way for you. How will it be when some disaster strikes them because of what their hands have already prepared? Then they will come to you swearing by God: "We only wanted to have kindness and success!"

Those are the ones whom God knows what their hearts contain, so shun them and reprove them. Give them a convincing statement about themselves.

You will see many of them plunging into vice and hostility, and living off graft. What they have been doing is so wretched! If their rabbis and scholars had only forbidden them from speaking sinfully and living off graft! How wretched is what they have been producing.

SAY: "People of the Book, do you persecute us just because we believe in God and what has been sent down to us, and what was

64. The Jews say: "God's hand is shackled." May their own hands be shackled and themselves cursed because of what they have said! Rather both His hands are outstretched: He dispenses [things] just as He wishes. Anything sent down to you from your Lord increases many of them in arrogation and disbelief. We have tossed hostility and hatred between them until Resurrection Day. Every time they kindle a fire for war. God snuffs it out. They rush around the earth creating havoc. God does not love those who create havoc.

65. If the People of the Book would only believe and do their duty, We would overlook their evil deeds for them and show them into gardens full of Bliss. If they had only kept up the Torah and the Gospel, and whatever was sent down to them by their Lord, they would have eaten anything above them and from beneath their feet.

69. Those who believe and those who are Jews, Sabeans and Christians - anyone who believes in God and the Last Day, and acts honorably, should have no fear nor will they be saddened. We made an agreement with the Children of Israel and sent them messengers. Every time a messenger would come to them with what they themselves did not fancy, one group they accused of lying while another group they killed.

Those Children of Israel who disbelieved were cursed by the tongue of David and Jesus, the son of Mary. That was because they disobeyed and had acted defiantly. They did not refrain from the debauchery they were indulging in; how awful is what they had been doing! You will see many of them making friends with those who disbelieve. How wretched is what their souls have sent on ahead for them, since God is exasperated with them and they will live in torment for ever. If they had believed in God and the Prophet, and what was sent down to him, they would not have adopted them as patrons; but so many of them are perverse.

You will find the most violently hostile people towards those who believe are the Jews and those who associate [others with God]: while you will find the most affectionate of them towards those who believe, are those who say: "We are Christians." That is because some of them are priests and monks; they do not behave so proudly. 83. When they listen to what has been sent down to the Messenger, you will see their eyes well up with tears because of the Truth they recognize. They say: "Our Lord, we believe, so enroll us among the

God pardons whatever is a thing of the past. God will avenge Himself on anyone who does so over again; God is Powerful, the Wielder of Retribution. 96. - 101. Deviser of Heaven and earth! How can He have a son while He has no consort? He created everything and is aware of everything!
 Such is God, your Lord:
- the Creator of everything, so serve Him.

 He is a Trustee for everything!

 103. No powers of vision can comprehend Him, while He comprehends [all] vision; He is the Subtle, the Informed. Insights have come to you from your Lord: anyone who observes [them] does so for his own sake, while anyone who acts blindly has himself to blame. I am not [setup as] any guardian over you.

105. Thus we spell out signs so they will say: "You have been studying!"; and so We may explain it to folk who know. Follow whatever has been revealed to you by your Lord; there is no deity except Him. Avoid anyone who associates lothers with Godl. If God

- had so wished, they would not have associated [anything with Him]. We have not set you up as a guardian over them, nor are you an administrator for them.

 108. Do not insult those they appeal to instead of to God, lest they insult God as an enemy without even realizing it. Thus We have
- made their action seem attractive to every nation; then their return shall be to their Lord, so He may notify them about how they have been acting.
- 109. They swear by God with their stiffest oaths that if a sign were given them, they would believe in it. SAY: "Signs belong only to God." What will make you perceive that even when they are given them groping along in their arrogance. 111. Even though We were to send angels down to them and the dead were to speak to them, and We mustered everything against them, they still would not believe unless God so wishes; yet most of them act so out of ignorance. Thus We have granted each messenger an opponent, devils from humankind and sprites, some of whom have inspired others with seductive talk in order to deceive them. If your Lord had so wished, they would not have done so; so leave them alone as well as anything they may be inventing. Let the vital organs of those who do not believe in the Hereafter incline towards it, and let them feel satisfied with it and acquire whatever they may be acquiring. 114. Should I crave someone besides God to settle matters? He is the One Who has sent the Book down to you to set things forth in detail. Those whom We have given the Book recognize that it has been sent down from your Lord with the Truth, so do not be a doubter. Your Lord's word has been completed so far as [its] credibility and justice are concerned; there is no way to change His words. He is the Alert, the Aware. If you obeyed most of those who are on earth, they would lead you astray from God's path; they only follow conjecture and are merely guessing. You Lord is quite Aware as to who is straying from is path, just as He is quite Aware as to who are guided. 118. So eat whatever God's name has been mentioned over if you are believers in His signs. What is wrong with you that you do not eat something God's name has been mentioned over? He has spelled out for you what has been forbidden you - unless you are obliged to [eat it]. Many [people] lead others astray through their own passions without having any knowledge; your Lord is guite Aware as to who are disobedient. Leave off obvious vice and its inner source: those argue with you; if you (all) obeyed them, you would become associators [of others in your worship of God Alone]. 122. Is someone who has been dead and whom We revived and granted light to so he may walk among people with it, to be compared to someone who is in such darkness he cannot leave it? Thus anything they have been doing seems attractive to disbelievers. 123. Thus We have granted each town great men who are its criminals, to plot away in it. They merely plot against themselves and do not even notice it. Whenever some sign comes to them, they say: "We will never believe until we are given the same as God's messengers were given." God is guite Aware as to where He should place His message: belittlement by God and stern torment will strike those who commit crimes because of what they have been plotting. 125. God lays anyone's breast open to Islam whom He wants to quide, while He makes the breast of anyone He wants to be led astray seem cramped, tight, just as if he were climbing up to Heaven.

who acquire a vice will be rewarded for whatever they may have committed. Do not eat anything over which God's name has not been mentioned: it is so immoral! The devils inspire their adherents to guide, while He makes the breast of anyone He wants to be led astray seem cramped, tight, just as if he were climbing up to Heaven. Thus God places a blight on those who do not believe. This is your Lord's Straight Road. We have spelled out signs for folk who remember: they will have a peaceful home with their Lord; He will be their Patron because of what they have been doing.

their Patron because of what they have been doing.

128. Some day He will summon them all together: "O company of sprites, you have required too much from humankind." Their adherents among humanity will say: "Our Lord, some of us have taken advantage of one another, and have [now] reached our deadline which You appointed for us." He will say: "The Fire will be your lodging to live in for ever, except for whatever God may wish. Your Lord is Wise. Aware." Thus We let some wrongdoers manage from among yourselves come to relate My signs to you and warn you about a meeting on this day of yours?" They will say: "We bear witness even against ourselves." Worldly life has lured them on and they bear witness against themselves for having been disbelievers.

132. That is because your Lord will not destroy any towns unjustly while their people are heedless: everyone will have ranks according to what they have been doing. Your Lord is not oblivious of what they are doing. Your Lord is Transcendent, the Master of Mercy; if He so wished, He would remove you and bring replacements for you in any way He wishes, just as He has produced you from the offspring of other people. What you are promised is coming; you will never avert it.

135. SAY. "My people, act according to your situation; I [too] am Acting! You will know who will have the Home as a result. The fact is that wrongdoers will not prosper. They grant God a share in what He has produced such as crops and livestock, and they say: "This is God's,' according to their claim, and: "This is our associates'."

God's, according to their claim, and: "This is our associates." Anything that is meant for their associates never reaches God, while what is God's reaches their associates (too); how evil is whatever they decide! Even so, their associates have made killing their children seem attractive to many associators, to lead them on to ruin and to confuse their religion for them. If God so wishes, they would not do so; so leave them alone and whatever they are inventing.

not do so; so leave them alone and whatever they are inventing.

138. They say: "This livestock and (these) crops are taboo; only someone we wish to may eat them!", according to their claim. There are some livestock whose backs one is forbidden to ride, as well as

(other) livestock over which God's name has not been mentioned, as something invented despite Him. He will reward them according to what they have been inventing. They say: "What is in this livestock's bellies is reserved exclusively for our menfolk, and forbidden to our wives." Yet if it is stillborn, then they may be partners in it! He will reward them for their description: He is Wise. Aware. 140. Those who have stupidly killed their own children without having any knowledge and forbidden something God has provided them with, have lost out through inventing things about God; they have gone astray and not accepted guidance. 141. He it is Who has produced gardens, both trellised and untrellised, and datepalms and field crops whose food [tastes] different, as well as olives and pomegranates which are so alike and yet so unlike! Eat some of their fruit as they ripen, and give away whatever they ought to on their harvest day. Yet do not overdo things for He does not love extravagant people. 142. Some livestock is for transport and some meant for use at home. Eat anything God has provided you with and do not follow in Satan's footsteps, for he is an open enemy of yours.

143. Eight exist in pairs: two [pairs] of sheep and two of goats, SAY: "Does He forbid both males or both females, or what the females' wombs contain? Inform me scientifically if you are so truthful! Camels also [come] in twos and cattle in twos. SAY: "Did He forbid both males or both females, or what both females' wombs contain? Were vou witnesses when God instructed you concerning this? revealed to me for anyone needing to eat something, unless it is been consecrated to something besides God.

Concerning anyone who is obliged to do so, without either meaning to disobey nor exceeding his [barest] needs, your Lord is Forgiving, Merciful.

147. We have forbidden those who are Jews everything having a claw, and in the case of cattle, sheep and goats, We have forbidden them their tallow, unless it is located in their backs or intestines, or what is mingled with their bones. That is how We have rewarded them because of their insolence. We are Truthful; so if they should reject you, then say: 'Your Lord possesses boundless Mercy. His

Even so did those before them reject [Us] until they tasted Our might. SAY: "Have you (all) any knowledge? Then bring it here for us! Why, you who will testify that God has forbidden this!" If they so testify, still do not testify along with them nor follow the whims of those who reject Our signs and do not believe in the Hereafter. They make all things equal to their Lord!

Do not kill your children because of poverty; We shall provide for you as well as for them.

Do not indulge in shocking acts which you may practise either openly.

153. This is My Straight Road, so follow it and do not follow [other] paths which will separate you from His path. Thus has He instructed you so that you may do your duty.

154. Then We gave Moses the Book as a fulfilment for someone who acts kindly, and an analysis of everything, as well as for guidance and mercy so they may believe about meeting their Lord.

155. This is a Blessed Book We have sent down, so follow it and do your duty so that you may receive mercy, lest you say: "The Book was sent down to only two factions before us. We have been unaware of what they study." Or you may say: "If the Book had been sent down to us, We would be better guided than they are."

Evidence has now come to you from your Lord, as well as guidance and mercy. Who is more in the wrong than someone who rejects

God's signs and even evades them? We will reward those who evade Our signs with the worst torment because they have acted so

- Let Us ask those to whom it was sent and let Us (also) ask the emissaries; let Us relate what We know about them since We have not been absent.
 The weighing-in that day will be correct: those whose scales are

12. He said: "What prevents you from bowing down when I have commanded you to [do so]?" He said: "I am better than he is; You created me from fire, while You created him from clay." He said: "Clear out of here; you have no reason to act so proud about it. Get out; you are such a petty person!"

14. He said: "Let me wait until the day when they are raised up again." He said: "You are one who will be allowed to wait." He said: "Since you have let me wander off, I'll waylay them along Your Straight Road; then I'll come at them from in front of them and from behind them, on their right and on their left. He said: 'If you have brought some sign, well produce it then if you are so truthful!" He tossed his staff down and imagine, it obviously became a snake! He pulled out his hand (from his shirtfront), and imagine, it was white to the onlookers!

109. The notables among Pharaoh's people said: 'This is some clever magician! He wants to drive you out of your land; so what do you command?" They said: 'Put him and his brother off, and send recruiters out through the cities who will bring you in every clever become courtiers." 115. They said: 'Moses, will you throw something down or shall we be the ones to throw [first]?" He said: "You throw [first]!" So when they threw, they charmed the people's eyes and overawed them. They produced a splendid trick! 117. We inspired Moses with: "Throw your staff," and imagine, it swallowed up whatever they had trumped up! Truth prevailed and what they had been doing collapsed; those men were defeated and were turned back belittled. The magicians dropped down on their knees: they said: "We believe in the Lord of the Universe, the Lord of

This is some scheme which you have hatched in the city in order to drive its people out. You will soon find out! I'll cut off your hands and feet on opposite sides; then I'll crucify you all." They said: "We will be sent home to our Lord. You are persecuting us only because we have believed in our Lord's signs once they were brought us. Our Lord, pour patience over us, and gather us up [at death] as Muslims!"

127. The notables among Pharaoh's people said: "Are you letting Moses and his people ruin the earth, and forsake you and your gods?" He said: "We shall slaughter their sons and let their women live: we stand irresistible over them."

128. Moses told his people: "Seek help from God and act patient; the earth belongs to God. Anyone He wishes from among His servants will inherit it, and the outcome belongs to the heedful." They said: "We were oppressed before you came to us, and [will be observe how you act."

130. We gripped Pharaoh's household with years [of trial] and a shortage of fruit so they might bear it in mind. Whenever something fine came to them, they said: "This is ours;" while if something evil afflicted them, they took it as an omen connected with Moses and whoever was with him. Did not their omen only lie with God? Yet most of them do not realize it. They said: "No matter what sign you may bring us to charm us with, we will never believe in you."

Whenever some plague fell upon them, they said: "Moses, appeal to your Lord for us, because of what He has pledged for you; if you will lift the plague from us, we will believe in you and send the Children of Israel away with you."

135. Yet whenever We lifted the plague from them for a period which they were to observe, why, they failed to keep it! We avenged

Ourselves on them and drowned them in the deep, because they had rejected Our signs and been so heedless of them. We let a folk whom they considered to be inferior inherit the Eastern and Western parts of the land which We had blessed. Your Lord's finest word was accomplished for the Children of Israel because they had been so patient. We destroyed everything Pharaoh and his people had been producing and whatever they had been building.

138. We led the Children of Israel across the sea. They came upon a people who were dedicated to some idols they had. They said: "Moses, make a god for us like the gods they have." He said: "You are a folk who act ignorantly. Anything those people are busy at is doomed and whatever they have been doing is absurd." He said:

142. We appointed thirty nights for Moses and completed them with ten; the appointment with his Lord was complete in forty nights. Moses told his brother Aaron: "Rule my people in my stead and set a good example; do not pursue the mischiefmakers' course."

143. When Moses came for Our appointment and his Lord spoke to him, he said: "My Lord, show [yourself] to me so I may look at You." He said: "You will never see Me, but look at the mountain finstead]. If it remains in its place, then you shall see Me." When his Lord displayed his glory to the mountain. He left it flattened off, and Moses

150. When Moses returned angry, sorrowful to his folk, he said: "What an awful thing you have committed behind my back! Have you ried to hurry up your Lord's command?" He dropped the Tablets and seized his brother by the head, pulling him towards himself. He said: "Son of my mother, the people felt I was weak and they almost killed me! Dont let any enemies gloat over me nor place me with such wrongdoing folk!" He said: 'My Lord, forgive me and my brother, and let us enter Your mercy! You are the most Merciful of those who show mercy!"

152. Anger and disgrace from their Lord will be awarded those who accepted the calf during worldly life. Thus We reward those who invent [such things]; as for those who perform evil deeds, then repent later on and believe, your Lord will later on be Forgiving, Merciful.

pay the welfare tax, and who believe in Our signs, those who follow the Messenger, the Unlettered Prophet whom they will find written down for them in the Torah and the Gospel. He commands them to be decent and forbids them dishonor. He permits them wholesome things and prohibits them evil things, and relieves them of their obligation and the shackles which have lain upon them. Those who believe in him, revere him and support him, and follow the Light which was sent down with him: those will be successful."

159. Out of Moses' folk [there grew] a nation who guided by means of the Truth and dealt justly by means of it. We split them up into twelve tribes, communities, and inspired Moses when his people asked for water: 'Strike the rock with your staff." Twelve springs

We shaded them with clouds and sent down manna and quail for them: 'Eat some of the wholesome things which We have supplied vou with." Yet they did not harm Us, but they themselves were the persons whom they harmed. When they were told: "Settle down in this town and eat wherever you wish in it, and sav: 'Relieve [us]!' Enter the gate [walking] on your knees. We will forgive you your mistakes; We will give even more to those who act kindly," those among them who did wrong changed the statement into something else than what had been told them; so We sent a plague from Heaven upon them because of how wrong they had been acting.

aushed forth from it. Each set of people knew its own drinking-place.

163. Ask them about the town which lay facing the sea, when they broke the Sabbath. Their fish came to them swimming on the surface on their Sabbath Day, while any day they did not cease work, it did not come to them. Thus We tested them since they had been acting so immorally. 164. Whenever a community among them said: "Why do you lecture a folk whom God will destroy anyhow, or [at least] punish them severely?" they said: "To gain absolution from your Lord, and so they may do their duty." When they forgot what they had been reminded of, We rescued those who had forbidden evil while We seized those who were doing wrong with dreadful torment because they had been acting so immorally. When they became insolent about what had been forbidden them, we told them: "Become apes who will be chased away." So your Lord announced that He would send someone against them who would impose the worst torment on them until Resurrection Day. Your Lord is Prompt with punishment, while

He is (also) Forgiving, Merciful, 168. We split them up into nations (that exist) on earth. Some of tested them with fine things and evil things so they might repent.

170. As for those who hold onto the Book and keep up prayer - We shall never forfeit reformers' wages. Thus We suspended the Mountain over them as if it were an awning, and they thought it was going to fall down on them: "Hold on firmly to anything We have given you and remember what is in it, so that you may do your duty!" 172. When your Lord took their offspring from the Children of Adam's loins, and made them bear witness about themselves: 'Am I not your Lord?"; they said: 'Of course, we testify to it!" lest you (all) might say on Resurrection Day: "We were unaware of this;" or lest you say: "It was only our forefathers who associated [others with God] previously: offspring following them. Will You wipe us out because of what futile men have done?" Thus We spell out signs so that they may repent.

175. Recite news to them about someone to whom We gave Our signs. He slipped away from them, so Satan followed him and he became misguided. If We had so wished. We might have raised him up by means of them, but he clung to the earth and followed his own whim. He might be compared to a dog: no matter how you drive him off, he just pants away. Or if you leave him alone, he still pants on.

That is what folk who reject Our signs are like; tell such stories so they may think things over. How evil is the comparison of folk who

We have bred many sprites and humans for Hell: they have hearts they do not understand with. and eyes they do not see with. and ears they do not hear with. Those persons are like livestock: in fact, they are even further off track. They are heedless! 180. God has the Finest Names, so appeal to Him by name and leave those who blaspheme against His names alone: they will be rewarded for whatever they have been doing. 181. Some of those whom We have created form a nation which guides [men] by means of the Truth, and because of it they act justly. 182. We shall gradually bring those who reject Our signs from a place they do not recognize. I shall let them go on, for My scheme is sure. Have they not thought things over? There is no madness in their companion; he is merely a plain warner. Have they not observed in the sovereignty over Heaven and Earth and whatever God has created of any sort, that perhaps their deadline may be approaching? In what report will they believe later on? Anyone whom God lets go astray will have no guide; He leaves them groping along in their arrogance.

If one of the associators should ask you for protection, then grant him asylum until he has heard God's word. Later on escort him to where he can find safety. That is because they are folk who do not know anything.

7. How can there be any treaty with associators on the part of God and His messenger, except for those with whom you have ratified one at the Hallowed Mosque? So long as they act straightforwardly with you, be straightforward with them. God loves those who do their duty! How, if they should overcome you, will they honor any pact or obligation with you? They seek to please you in whatever they say while their hearts refuse to. Most of them are immoral: they have bought up God's signs for a paltry price, and obstructed His way. How evil is what they have been doing! They honor no pact nor any obligation with a believer: those are aggressors! Yet if they should

12. If they should violate their trust once they have sworn it, and insult your religion, then fight the leaders of disbelief; they have no faith to make them stop. Will you not fight folk who have violated their trust and intended to exile the Messenger? They attacked you first! Are you afraid of them? You ought to be even more afraid of God if you are believers. Fight them, so God may punish them at your hands and disgrace them, and support you against them, and heal the breasts of believing folk, and remove the fury from their hearts. God

you will be abandoned once God knows which of you have struggled, and did not adopt anyone as an ally besides God, His messenger and believers? God is Informed anything you do.

17. Associators must not frequent God's mosques since they act as witnesses for their own disbelief. Those [people will find] their actions will miscarry and they will remain for ever in the Fire. Only someone who believes in God and the Last Day, keeps up prayer, pays the welfare tax and dreads only God [Alone], shall frequent God's mosques. Perhaps those may be the ones who submit to

Their Lord proclaims mercy and approval from Himself for them, and gardens where they will have lasting bliss to live in for ever and ever; with God there lies a splendid wage.

23. You who believe, do not take your fathers and your brothers on as sponsors if they prefer disbelief rather than faith. Anyone of you who enlists them as sponsors are wrongdoers. SAY: "If your fathers, your sons, your brothers, your spouses and your family ties, as well as the wealth you have acquired and the business you dread will fall

19. Have you made those giving pilgrims something to drink a care of the Hallowed Mosque just like someone who believes in God and the Last Day, and struggles on for God's sake? They are not equal before God: God does not quide such wrongdoing folk! Those who off, plus the dwellings you are so fond of, are all dearer to you than God and His messenger, or striving for His sake, then wait around till God brings His command to pass. God does not guide such immoral folk!

25. God has supported you on many battlefields and the day of Hunayn when our own numbers amazed you; yet it did not spare you in any way and the earth seemed cramped for you, spacious as it is. Then you fell back in retreat. Next God sent His serenity down upon His messenger and on believers; He sent down armies you did not even see and punished those who disbelieved. Such is the reward

27. Then later on God will turn towards anyone He wishes. God is Forgiving, Merciful. You who believe, associators are nothing but filthy, so they should not approach the Hallowed Mosque after this year that they still have. If you should fear destitution. God will enrich

30. Jews say: "Ezra was God's son," while Christians say: "Christ was God's son." That is what they say with their mouths, imitating what those have said who disbelieved before them. May God fight them off for what they have trumped up! They have adopted their scholars and monks as lords instead of God, plus Christ, the son of

36. The number of months with God is twelve: [they were] in God's book on the day He created Heaven and Earth. Out of them, four are sacred; such is the established religion. Do not harm yourselves during them, yet fight associators to a finish, just as they fight you to a finish. Know that God stands by the heedful.

37. Postponing it will only [lead to] an increase in [their] disbelief:

actions seem attractive to them, although God does not guide disbelieving folk. 38. You who believe, what is wrong with you when you are told: "March off in God's cause!"? Do you feel weighted down to the ground? Are you more satisfied with worldly life than with the [prospect of the] Hereafter? The comfort of worldly life will mean so little in the Hereafter. If you do not support him, well God did support him when those who disbelieved expelled him as the second of two, when they were both in the Cave, as he told his companion: "Do not worry: for God is with us." So God sent His serenity down on him and aided him with destroy their own souls while God knows what liars they are!

43. May God pardon you! Why did you permit them to do so before it was explained to you which ones were truthful so you might recognize the liars? Those who believe in God and the Last Day do not ask you to excuse them from striving with their property and believe in God and the Last Day ask you to excuse them. Their hearts are in such doubt that they even waver in their doubt!

Among you there were some who would listen to them. God is Aware of those who do wrong. They have already sown such dissension previously and upset matters for you until Truth came along and God's command prevailed no matter how they hated it.

48. Among them someone may say: "Leave me alone and do not stir

by God. God is Aware, Wise.

61. There are some (people] who annoy the Prophet by saying: "He's (all) ears!" SAY: '[He's] an ear for good for you! He believes in God and believes for the believers' sake, and is a mercy for any of you who do believe.' Those who annoy God's messenger will have painful torment.

62. They swear by God for you just to please you (all). It is more correct to please God and His messenger if they are [really]

If We should pardon one faction of you, we will punish another faction since they have been such criminals. 67. Hypocrites, whether men or women, resemble one another; they command wickedness, forbid decency, and clench their fists. They have forgotten God, so He has forgotten them. Hypocrites are so immoral! God has promised hypocrites, whether they are men or women, as well as foutright disbelievers. Hell fire to live in for ever; it will be their reckoning. God has cursed them, and they will have constant forment. 69. Just as those before them were firmer than you are in strength, and possessed more wealth and children, and they exploited their advantage, even so have you sought to enjoy your opportunity, just as those who came before you enjoyed their advantage. 119. You who believe, heed God and stand by those who are truthful. It is not for the people of Madina nor any desert Arabs who (live) around them, to lag behind God's messenger nor to prefer themselves ahead of himself. That is so no thirst would afflict them. nor any stress nor starvation along God's way, nor would they adopt any stand which would irritate disbelievers, nor gain any acquisition from an enemy, unless some honorable action were recorded for them because of it. God does not waste the wages of those who act kindly. They could not provide for any outlay small or great, nor cut across a valley unless it were prescribed for them, so that God may reward them for the finest things they have been doing. Believers should not march forth in a body: if a squadron from each division of them should march forth, they should still instruct [others] in religion and warn their folk when they return to them so that they may take precautions.

Next We sent Moses and Aaron after them with Our signs for said: 'Have you come to us to turn us away from what we found our forefathers doing? And so greatness on earth may belong to both of you? We do not believe in either of you." Pharaoh said: "Bring me every cunning magician!"

Pharaoh and his councilors. Yet they acted proudly and were criminal folk. When Truth came to them from Our very presence, they said: 'This is sheer magic!" Moses said: "Do you say about Truth when it has come to you: 'Is this magic?' Magicians never prosper." They promote the work of mischief-makers. God verifies the Truth through His own words no matter how criminals may hate it."

83. Only some offspring among his own folk believed in Moses because of fear for Pharaoh and his councillors, lest he might put them to some test. Pharaoh was so haughty on earth and besides he was a dissipated man. Moses said: "My people, if you believe in God, then rely on Him if you are Muslims." They said: "On God do we rely. Our Lord, do not turn us into a trial for wrongdoing folk! Save us through Your mercy from such disbelieving folk!"

87. So We inspired Moses and his brother [as follows]: "Settle your people down in houses in Egypt and turn your houses into shrines; keep up prayer and announce good news to believers." Moses said:

"Our Lord, You have given Pharaoh and his councillors splendor and wealth during worldly life. Our Lord, is it so they may lead [us] off from Your way? Our Lord, wipe out their wealth and firm up their hearts so they may not believe until they see painful torment." 15. We shall repay anyone who has been wanting worldly life and its attraction according to their actions in it; they will not be caught short there. Yet those will have only the Fire during the Hereafter anything they have been producing in it will collapse and whatever they have been doing will [prove to] be useless. 17. What about someone who has [received] an explanation from his Lord and to whom a witness from Him is reciting while Moses' book lies before him as a token and a mercy? Such persons believe in it.

Anyone from the factions who disbelieve in it will have the Fire for his appointment, so do not be in any quandary about it: it is the Truth

Her fate is what will strike them [too]. Their appointment will be in the morning. Is not morning near?"

82. When Our command came along, We turned them upside down and rained stones on them from tablets which had been sorted out, stamped by your Lord. They never lie far from wrongdoers!

84. To Midian [God sent] their brother Shu'ayb. He said: "My people, worship God [Alone]! You have no other deity except Him. Do not give short measure and weight. I see you enjoy well-being while I fear the torment of an overpowering day for you. My people, give full belongings nor cause havoc on earth as mischief makers do. Anything God leaves over is best for you provided you believe. I am no guardian set up over you."

87. They said: "Shu'ayb, does your prayer command you that we must abandon what our forefathers worshipped, or that we should [not] do what we wish to with our property? Yet you are such a

They will be followed by a curse in this [world] and on Resurrection Day; how awful is the gift which will be presented [them]! 100. That is some of the news from towns We are telling you about: some of them are still standing there while [others have been] mown down. as their forefathers worshipped previously. We will repay them their share without omitting anything. 110. We gave Moses the Book, yet disagreement arose concerning it. Had it not been for a statement which had previously gone forth from your Lord, it would have been decided among them. They are in such suspicious doubt about it! Your Lord will repay everyone for their actions, for He is Informed about whatever they are doing, Carry on just as you have been ordered to, as well as anyone who repents along with you. Do not act arrogantly: He is Observant of anything you do! Do not lean on those who do wrong lest the Fire should touch you. You have no patrons besides God; otherwise you will not be supported. 114 Keep up prayer at both ends of the day: and at the approach of night. Good deeds remove evil deeds: that is a Reminder for such persons as will be reminded. 115. Act patiently; God does not let the wages of those who act kindly be wasted. For that reason did He create them, and your Lord's word was completed: "I shall fill Hell with sprites and mankind all together!" Everything We relate to you concerning the history of messengers is what We brace your vitals with; through this, Truth comes to you, as well as a lesson and Reminder for believers. along when there will be no bartering nor any intimacy." 32. God is the One Who has created Heaven and Earth, and sends down water from the sky. He brings forth produce by means of it as sustenance for you. He has subjected ships to you so they may sail at sea by His command; and subjected rivers to you. He regulates the sun and moon for you, both journeying on and on, and regulates night and day for you. He gives you everything you ever ask Him for. If you counted up God's favor(s), you would never [be able to] number them; yet man is so unfair, ungrateful.

He said: "So do you worship something instead of God that neither benefits you in any way nor does it harm you? Shame on you and on whatever you worship instead of God [Alone]! Dont you use your reason?" They said: "Burn him up and support your gods if you must be doing somethina!"

69. We said: "Fire, be cool, and safe for Abraham!" They wanted to outwit him, so We made them lose the most. We rescued him and Lot, [bringing them] to a land which We had blessed for [everyone in] the Universe. We bestowed Isaac and (then) Jacob on him as an additional boon; each We made into honorable men. We made them

81. Solomon had wind as a storm which blew at his command over the earth which We had blessed. We were Conscious of everything. Some devils there were who dived for him and performed other work besides that. We acted as Guardians over them.

22. - Pilgrimage

However God's torment is severe!

- In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!
- 1. O mankind, heed your Lord! The quaking at the Hour will be a serious matter. On the day when you see it, every nursing mother will
- neglect whatever she is nursing and every pregnant female will miscarry. You will see men drunk while they have not been drinking.
- Some men arque about God without having any knowledge, and they follow every wilful Satan. It has been written down concerning anyone he befriends that he shall mislead him and guide him to the
- torment of the Blaze 5. O men, if you have ever been in doubt about rising again, well We (first) created you from dust; then from a drop of semen; then from a
- clot; then from a lump of tissue either shaped or else shapeless, so We might explain [things] to you. We cause anything We wish to rest
- in wombs for a stated period; then We bring you forth as infants; eventually you reach full growth. Some of you will pass away [early in life], while others of you will be sent back to the feeblest age of all, so - that he will not know a thing after once having had knowledge. You see the barren earth when We send water down upon it, stirring,
- sprouting and producing every sort of lovely species. That [comes about] because God is the Truth: He revives the dead and is Capable of everything! 7. The Hour is coming, there is no doubt about it. God will raise up shall let him taste the torment of burning on Resurrection Day. "That is because of what your hands have sent on ahead." Yet God is no One to harm [His] worshippers. 11. Some men serve God along the fringes: if some good should happen to him, he accepts it calmly, while if some trial should strike him, he turns over on his face [in despair]. He loses both this world and the Hereafter. That is such an obvious loss! He appeals to something that neither harms him nor vet benefits him, instead of to God. That is extreme error: he appeals to someone whose harm is closer than his benefit. How wretched is such a patron; how wretched is such a colleague! 14. God will show those who believe and perform honorable deeds into gardens through which rivers flow: God does anything He wants. 15. Let anyone who has been thinking that God will never support him in this world as well as in the Hereafter, [try to] stretch a tent-rope

Anything in their stomachs as well as their skins will be melted by it. They will have iron goads: every time they may want to leave because of [their] gloom, they will be sent back to it: "Taste the torment of burning!"

34. To every nation We have granted ritual so they may mention God's name over any heads of livestock He has provided them with. Your God is God Alone, so commit vourself to Him peacefully and proclaim good news to the meek, whose hearts tremble whenever

God is mentioned and are patient with anything that may happen to them, and those who keep up prayer and spend something out of whatever We have provided them with.

36. Animals' bodies [to be sacrificed] We have granted to you as some of God's symbols. They contain good for you, so mention God's name over them as they are lined up [for slaughter]. Once they slump down on their sides, then eat some of them and feed both the [poor man who is] carefree and the one who insists on it. Thus We have subjected them to you so that you may be thankful.

37. Neither their meat nor their blood ever reaches God, but heedfulness on your part does reach Him. Thus He has subjected them to you, so that you may magnify God because He has guided you, and proclaim good news to those who act kindly. God defends those who believe: God does not love every thankless traitor. 39. Those who have been wronged are permitted to fight [back]since God is Able to support them - any who have been driven from their homes unjustly, merely because they say: "Our Lord is God [Alone]." If it were not because God repels some men by means of others, cloisters, churches, synagogues and mosques where God's name is mentioned frequently would have been demolished.

Control will belong to God on that day: He will judge between them, and those who believe and perform honorable deeds will be in the gardens of Bliss. Those who disbelieve and deny Our signs will have humiliating torment. 58. God will provide handsomely for those who migrate for God's sake, then are killed or die. God is the Best Provider! Yet instead of God they worship something for which no authority has been sent down, and about which they have no knowledge. There is no supporter for wrongdoers. Whenever Our clear signs are recited

77. You who believe, bow down and kneel before [Him], and worship your Lord; and do good, so that you may succeed. Strive for God's sake, the way He should be striven for. He has picked you out and has not placed any constraint upon you concerning [your] religion, the sect of your forefather Abraham.

He has named you Muslims both previously and right now, so the

So they said: "Are we to believe in two human beings like ourselves while their people are slaving for us?" They rejected them both, and so eventually were wiped out. In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

This is a chapter We have sent down and ordained. We send clear signs down in it so that you (all) may be reminded.

2. Flog both the adulterous woman and the adulterous man with a hundred lashes, and do not let any pity for either party distract you from [complying with] God's religion if you believe in God and the Last Day. Have a group of believers witness their punishment. An adulterous man may only marry an adulterous woman or one who associates [others with God]; while an adulterous woman may only be married to an adulterous man or one who associates [others with Godl. Such [conduct] is forbidden to believers.

4. Flog those who cast things up at honorable matrons with eighty lashes unless they bring four witnesses, and never accept their testimony from them [again]. Those are troublemakers; except for the ones who repent later on and reform. God is Forgiving, Merciful. 6. Any persons who accuse their spouses yet have no witnesses except themselves for it, should offer testimony by swearing four times before God that he is telling the truth, plus a fifth [time] that God's curse will rest on him if he is a liar. It will avert the punishment from her if she swears four times before God that he is a liar, plus a fifth that God's anger will rest on her if he has been truthful. How

15. When you encountered it on your tongues and said something with your own mouths that you had no knowledge about, you reckoned it was trifling although it was serious with God. If you had only said as you heard it: "We ought not to talk about this. Glory be to You! This is serious slander."

believers. God explains signs to you; God is Aware, Wise. Those who love to spread shocking news around concerning those who believe will have painful torment in this world and the Hereafter. God knows while you (all) do not know. If God's bounty and mercy had only rested on you; for God is Gentle, Merciful!

21. You who believe, do not follow in Satan's footsteps. Satan orders anyone who follows in his footsteps to commit acts of sexual misconduct as well as dishonor. If it had not been for God's bounty and mercy towards you, not one of you would have ever been pure; but God purifies anyone He wishes. God is Alert, Aware. Those

They will have severe torment on a day when their tongues, their hands and their feet will testify against them concerning whatever they have been doing. On that day God will repay them with their rightful due; they will realize that God means obvious Truth.

It will not be held against you, however, for entering any houses which are not inhabited, for some property belonging to you. God knows anything you show and anything you hide.

30. Tell believers to avert their glances and to guard their private parts; that is chaster for them. God is Informed about anything they may produce. Tell believing women to avert their glances and guard their private parts, and not to display their charms except what [normally] appears of them. They should fold their shawls over their bosoms and show their charms only to their husbands, or their fathers or their fathers-in-law, or their own sons or stepsons, or their own brothers or nephews on either their brothers' or their sisters' side; or their own womenfolk, or anyone their right hands control, or male attendants who have no sexual desire, or children who have not yet shown any interest in women's nakedness. Let them not stomp their feet in order to let any ornaments they may have hidden be noticed. Turn to God, all you believers, so that you may prosper! 32. Marry off any single persons among you, as well as your honorable servants and maids. If they are poor, God will enrich them from His bounty. God is Boundless, Aware. Yet let those who do not find [anv way to] marry, hold off until God enriches them out of His bountv. Should those whom your right hands control desire their freedom, then draw up such a writ for them if you recognize anything worthwhile in them. Give them some of God's wealth which He has given you. Do not force your girls [whom you control] into prostitution so that you may seek the display of worldly life, if they want to preserve their chastity. Anyone who forces them (to do otherwise) [will find] God is Forgiving, Merciful, even after forcing them to. We have sent you down clarifying signs and an example in those who have passed on before you, as well as instruction for the heedful. 35 God is the Light of Heaven and Earth! God composes parables for mankind: God is Aware of everything! There are houses God has permitted to be built where His name is mentioned: in them He is alorified morning and evening by men whom neither business nor trading distract from remembering God. keeping up prayer, and paying the welfare tax. They fear a day when their hearts and eyesight will feel upset unless God rewards them for the finest things they may have done. and gives them even more out of His bounty. God provides for anyone He wishes without any reckoning! 39 Those who disbelieve [will find] their deeds [will disappear] like a mirage on a desert: the thirsty man will reckon it is water till, as he comes up to it. he finds it is nothing. 45. God has created every animal out of water; some of them walk on their belly, while others walk on two legs and still others walk on four. God creates anything He wishes; God is Able [to do) everything! We have sent clarifying signs down, and God guides anyone He wishes to a Straight Road. They will say: "We believe in

God has promised to appoint those of you who believe and perform honorable deeds as [His] representatives on earth, just as He made those before them into (such) overlords, and to establish their religion for the which He has approved for them, and to change their fear into confidence. They serve Me [Alone] and do not associate anything else with me. Those who disbelieve later on will

 58. You who believe, have those whom your right hands control and

Those [elderly] women sitting around [after their menopause] who no longer expect to marry will meet with no objection if they take off their [outer] clothing, though without displaying their charms. Yet it is best for them to act modestly. God is Alert, Aware.

There is no objection for you nor for them outside those times as they move around you so some of you may wait on others. Thus God explains signs to you: God is Aware, Wise. Whenever any children of yours reach puberty, let them ask permission just as those before

27. - The Ants

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

1. T. S.

These are verses from the Qur'an and a clear Book [offered] for guidance and as good news for believers who keep up prayer and pay the welfare tax while they feel certain about the Hereafter. We have made those who do not believe in the Hereafter feel their actions are attractive even though they are (really) groping around. Those are the ones who will have the worst torment, while they will be the greatest losers in the Hereafter. Yet you have been profferred the Qur'an by Someone [Who is] Wise, Aware.

7. Thus Moses told his household: "I've alimpsed a fire. I'll bring you some news from it, or I'll bring you a glowing ember so that you may warm yourselves."

8. When he came up to it, [a voice] called out: "Blessed be Whoever is in the Fire, and whoever stands around it! Glory be to God, Lord of the Universe! O Moses. I am God, the Powerful, the Wise. Throw down your staff!"

When he saw it wriggling as if it were possessed, he turned his back on it and tried to run away. "Moses, do not fear. Emissaries do not fear in My presence except for someone who has done wrong. Then, should he change to something finer after [committing] evil. I will be Forgiving, Merciful, Put your hand into your shirtfront; it will come out without [causing any] evil. There will be nine signs for Pharaoh and folk. They have been such immoral people."

13. When Our signs came to them so plain to see, they said: "This is sheer magic!" They repudiated them wrongfully and haughtily though they themselves felt certain about it. See how the outcome was for mischief makers 15. We gave David and Solomon knowledge, and they both said:

"Praise be to God. Who has made us excel over many of His believing servants." Solomon fell heir to David, and he said: "O mankind, we have been taught the speech of birds, and been given la little of everything. This is manifest bounty." 17. His armies of sprites, men and birds were drawn up before Solomon: they paraded forth until, when they came to the Valley of

- 19. So he smiled, laughing at its statement, and said: "My Lord, arrange things for me so I shall act grateful for Your favor which You have bestowed upon me and my parents, and so I may act so honorably that You will approve of it. Admit me through Your mercy among Your honorable servants. 20. He inspected the birds, and said: "What's wrong with me that I do - not see the ployer? Or could it be absent? I shall punish it severely or slaughter it, unless it brings me some clear authority."
- 22. It was not long in coming, and said: "I have just acquired some information you have not picked up, for I bring you reliable news from Sheba. I found a woman ruling over them, and she has been given everything and has a splendid throne. I found both her and her people bowing down on their knees to the sun instead of to God affair: I have never settled any matter unless you were present with me." They said: "We possess strength and can be extremely violent. while authority rests with you: so attend to whatever you will command." 34. She said: 'Whenever any kings enter a town and plunder it, they turn the most important men among its people into the lowest. Thus they act. I am sending them a gift and shall be watching for whatever the emissaries bring back." 36. When it reached Solomon, he said; "Will you furnish me with wealth? What God has given me is better than what He has given you: nevertheless you seem guite happy with your gift. Go back to them, for We shall come to them with armies they can never resist. be humiliated " 38. He said: "Councilman, which of you will bring me her throne before they come to me committed to flive atl peace?" An imp among the sprites said: 'I'll bring it to you before you even rise up from your place. I am strong enough to be entrusted with it." Someone who had some knowledge about the Book said: 'I shall bring you it in the twinkling of an eve!" When he saw it set before him, he said: "This is some of my Lord's bounty, so He may test me whether I am thankful or thankless. Anvone who is thankful gives thanks only on his own behalf, while with anvone who is thankless, well my Lord is Transcendent, Generous." He said: "Disquise her throne for her: let us see whether she is guided or is one of those who are not guided." 42. When she came, someone said: "Is your throne like this?" She said: "It seems to be similar." (We were given knowledge before she was, and have become Muslims. What she had been worshipping instead of God distracted her; she belonged to disbelieving folk.) 44. Someone (else) said to her: "Enter the hall." See what was the outcome of their plotting! We annihilated them and their folk completely! Those used to be their houses - [now] empty because of the wrong they had committed! In that is a sign for folk who know. We saved the ones who believed and had been doing their duty. 54. When Lot told his folk: 'Do you indulge in sexual misconduct with your eyes open?" Do you approach men passionately instead of women? Indeed you are folk who act out of ignorance!" 56. His folk's answer was merely to say: "Run Lot's family out of your town: they are people who try to keep clean!" So We saved him and his family, except for his wife: We destined her to be one of those who stayed behind. We sent a rain down upon them; how evil was such rain for those who had been warned! 59. - 2. These are verses from the clear Book!

- 3. We shall recite in all truth to you some information about Moses and Pharaoh for folk who believe.
- 4. Pharaoh had acted haughtily on earth and split his people into factions, seeking to weaken a group of them. He slaughtered their sons and let their women live; he was so depraved! Yet We wanted to endow those who were considered inferior on earth, and make
- them into leaders and make them [Our] heirs. We established them on earth and showed Pharaoh and Haman as well as their troops how they should beware of them.
- 7. We inspired Moses' mother [as follows]: "Nurse him. If you should fear for him, then cast him into the river. Do not fear nor feel sad; We will return him to you, and appoint him as a missionary."
- 8. Pharaoh's household took him in, so that he became an enemy and [a source of] sadness for them. Pharaoh and Haman as well as their troops were so mistaken! Pharaoh's wife said: "[He'll be] a

- or we'll adopt him as a son." They did not suspect [a thing].

 10. Next morning the vitals of Moses' mother felt empty; she almost revealed who he was, if We had not bound up her heart so she would

comfort her and she would not feel so sad, and so she would know that God's promise is true, even though most of them do not realize 14. When he reached maturity and came of age. We gave him discretion and knowledge. Thus We reward those who act kindly. 15. He entered the city at a time when its people were lax, and found two men fighting there, one from his own sect and the other from his enemy's. The one who was from his own faction appealed for his assistance against the one who was from his enemy's. Moses punched him and he finished him off! He said: "This is some of Satan's work; he is such an enemy, a plain misleader." He said: "My Lord. I have wronged my own soul. Forgive me!" So He forgave him: He is the Forgiving, the Merciful, He said: "My Lord, since You have shown me such favor, I shall never back up any criminals [again]."

So she watched out for him from a distance while they did not notice it. We kept him from nursing at first, and so she said: "Shall I lead you to a family who will look after him for you? They will take good care of him." Thus We restored him to his mother so he might it.

18. Yet he felt fearful next morning in the city: he was on the alert. when the man he had tried to support the day before called out to him for help [again]. Moses told him: "You are clearly a troublemaker." When he wanted to catch the one who was an enemy to them both, he said: "Moses, do you want to kill me just as you killed another person yesterday? You only want to become a bully on earth;

vou do not want to be a reformer." 20. A man came hurrying up from the further end of the city: he said:

"Moses, the councilmen are deliberating about you, whether they should execute you. Clear out! I am giving you sincere advice." He wronadoina folk!" 22. As he made his way towards Midian, he said: "Perhaps my Lord will guide me along some level path." When he approached the water of Midian, he found a company of people watering [their flocks] there, and found two women besides them, holding theirs off at a distance. He said: "What's the matter with you?" They both said: "We may not draw any water until the herdsmen move on. Our father is an elderly gentleman."

When he came up to him, he told him the stories. He said: "Do not fear: you have escaped from wrongdoing folk." 26. One of the two (girls) said: "My father, hire him! The best man you can hire is someone who is strong, trustworthy." He said: "I want to marry you to one of these daughters of mine, provided you hire vourself out to me for eight seasons. If you should complete ten, then that will be your own affair. I do not want to be hard on you; you will find me an honorable man, if God so wishes." He said: "That is up to you and me; whichever term I may serve out, there will be no injustice done to me. God is a Trustee for anything we say." 29. When Moses had completed the term [that he had promised to work] and was travelling away with his family, he glimpsed a fire on a

33. He said: "My Lord. I killed a person among them, and fear they may execute me. My brother Aaron is more convincing with his tongue; send him along with me to back me up and vouch for me. I fear they will talk me out of it." He said: "We shall strengthen your arm by means of your brother and grant both of you authority so they will not overtake either of you. Because of Our signs, you both will win out, as well as anyone who follows you."

36. When Moses brought them Our clear signs, they said: "This is only some contrived magic. We have not heard of this through our early forefathers." Moses said: "My Lord is quite Aware as to who brings guidance from His presence and who will attain the Home in the end. Wrongdoers do not succeed."

38. Pharaoh said: "Councilmen, I have not known any god for you except myself. Light [a kiln] for me, Haman, for some clay, and build me a tower so I may climb up to Moses' god. Still I think he's a liar!"

39. Both he and his troops acted overproud on earth without any right [to be so]. They thought they would never return to Us. We seized him

14. We sent Noah to his folk. He remained among them for a thousand years less fifty twelvemonths. The Flood seized them while they were doing wrong. However We saved him and the companions in the ship, and made it into a sign for [everyone in] the Universe.

16. Next Abraham told his folk: "Serve God and heed Him. That will be best for you if you only realized it. You serve only images instead of God, and create a sham. The ones you serve instead of God do not control any sustenance for you, so seek sustenance from God Himself and serve Him; act grateful towards Him; to Him will you be

12. Those who disbelieve tell those who believe: "Follow our course and we will assume [responsibility for] your mistakes." They will not assume their mistakes in any way: they are such liars! However they will carry their own loads and others' loads besides their own. They will be questioned on Resurrection Day about what they have invented

18. "Yet if you should deny it - and nations before you have already denied such - the Messenger has only to deliver [his message] clearly. Have they not seen how God begins with creation, then performs it all over again? That is so easy for God [to do]!" He punishes anyone He wishes to and shows mercy to anyone He wishes; to Him will you be restored. You cannot prevent anything [from happening] on earth nor in Heaven; you have no patron nor any supporter besides God."

23. Those who reject God's signs and [any hope of] meeting Him despair of My mercy; those will have painful torment.

and one morning they lay cowering in their home. Both 'Ad and Thumad have been explained to you by means of their [empty] dwellings; Satan made their actions seem attractive to them and he diverted them from the Way even though they had been granted insight.

39. [In the case of] Qarun, Pharaoh and Haman, Moses brought them explanations and they [still] acted overbearing on earth; yet they could never get ahead [of Us]. Each We seized for his offence; some of them We sent a hailstorm against, some the Blast overtook, others of them We let the earth swallow up, while still others We drowned. It was not God Who wronged them, but they had already wronged themselves.

36. To Midian [was sent] their brother Shu'ayb. He said: "My folk, serve God and await the Last Day. Do not cause such mischief that it will ruin the earth." They rejected him, so the Tremor seized them,

35. Or have We sent down some authority to them which speaks to them about what they are associating with Him? Whenever We let mankind taste mercy, they are glad about it; yet if any evil should strike them because of what their hands have sent ahead, then they feel despondent. Have they not seen how God extends sustenance to anyone He wishes, and budgets it? There are signs in that for folk who believe. 38. So give the near relative his due, and the needy and the wayfarer; that will be best for the ones who want [to see] God's face. Those will be prosperous. Any usury you farm out so it will be increased from (other) people's wealth will never increase so far as God is concerned: while those of you who pay something as welfare tax while you seek God's face, will have it multiplied. hypocrites. God is Aware. Wise. Follow whatever you are inspired with by your Lord; God is Informed about what you (all) are doing. Rely on God: God suffices as a Trustee.

4. God has not placed two hearts in any man's body. Nor has He granted you wives whom you may back away from, to act as your mothers, nor has He granted your adopted sons to be your own sons. That is your own statement made by your own mouths. God states the Truth and He guides one along the Way. Call them after their own fathers; it is fairer so far as God is concerned. If you do not know who their fathers were, then [call them] your brothers in religion and your wards. What you may have slipped up on already will not be held against you, but only something your hearts have done intentionally. Yet God is Forgiving, Merciful. 6. The Prophet is closer to believers than even they themselves are, and his wives are [like] their mothers. Yet blood relatives are closer to one another in God's book than are believers and the Refugees, That has been underlined in the Book.

You who believe, remember God's favor upon you when the armies charged at you! We sent a wind and even armies you did not see against them. God was Observant of what you were doing, as they came at you both from above you and from below you, and your eyesight faltered and your hearts leaped up into your throats, and you entertained certain thoughts about God; there believers were tested

They were not defenceless; they merely wanted to run away. If a raid had been made on them from [all] its quarters, then they had been asked to rise up in dissension, they would have done so and yet not lasted very long. Still they had

16. SAY: "Fleeing will never help you: if you should flee from death or slaughter, then you will still enjoy (life) only briefly." SAY: "Who is there to shield you from God if He should want any ill for you or wants mercy for you?" They will find they have no patron nor any supporter besides God.

21. In God's messenger you have a fine model for someone who looks forward to [meeting] God and the Last Day, and mentions God

God is Forgiving, Merciful.

25. God sent the ones who disbelieved back in their fury; they did not accomplish any good. God spares believers the trouble of fighting; God is Strong, Powerful! He has tossed some People of the Book who had backed them up, out of their strongholds and cast panic into their hearts; one group you killed while you captured another group. He let you inherit their land, their homes and their property, plus a land you have not yet set foot on. God is Capable of everything!

28. O Prophet, tell your wives: "If you are wanting worldly life and its

36. No believing man nor any believing woman should exercise any choice in their affair once God and His messenger have decided upon some matter. Anyone who disobeys God and His messenger has wandered off into manifest error.

37. Thus you told someone whom God had favored and whom you yourself have favored: "Hold on to your wife, and heed God," while you kept to yourself what God had disclosed and you dreaded to their adopted son's wives once they have accomplished their purpose with them. God's command must be done! The Prophet is not to be reproached for [doing] what God has stipulated for him to do. God's practice has been such with those who have passed on already - God's command is a pre-ordained decree for those who

36. - Ya-Sin (Y.S.)

"The Town Which Was Warned" and "The Last Trumpet" are two parables contained in it. Towards the end of the chapter is an apocalyptic description of how the world will end. In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

18. They said: "We sense something unlucky about you; so if you will not stop, we'll expel you, and painful torment from us will afflict you." They said: "The bad luck you sense lies within yourselves. Will you not be reminded? Indeed you are such dissipated folk!"

20. A man came hurrying up from the further end of the city. He said:

sent anything down; you are only lying!" They said: "Our Lord knows that we have been [sent] to you as emmissaries. We have only to

What a pity it is with such worshippers! No messenger has ever come to them unless they made fun of him. Have they not seen how many generations We

- Our servant David commanded assistance; he was attentive [to God]. We forced the mountains to glorify [God] with him at evening and sunrise - and the birds were summoned and each was [made] attentive to him. We strengthened his control and gave him wisdom and distinction as an orator.

21. Has news of the litigants ever reached you, when they climbed over the wall into the sanctuary? Thus they burst in upon David so he was startled by them. They said: "Dont be afraid: [we are] two litigants, one of whom has injured the other; so judge correctly between us and do not act too stern. Guide us along the Level Road.

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

 The revelation of the Book [occurs] through God, the Powerful, the Wise! We have sent the Book down to you with the Truth, so serve God sincerely: religion belongs to Him.

Pure religion belongs to God [Alone]! The ones who take on [other] patrons instead of Him [claim]: "We do not serve them except to bring closer to God in homage." God will judge among them about whatever they have been differing over; God does not guide anyone who is disbelieving liar. If God had wanted to adopt a son, He would select an one He wished from what He has created.

Glory be to Him! He is God Alone, the Irresistible! He has created Heaven and Earth for Truth. He wraps night up in daytime, and wraps daytime up in night.

He regulates the sun and moon:
each runs along on a specific course.
Is He not the Powerful, the Forgiving?

6. He has created you (all) from a single soul; then made its mate from it. He has sent down eight types of livestock for you. He creates you in your mothers' wombs, one creation following upon another creation in three [stages of] darkness. Such is God, your Lord. Control belongs to Him: there is no god except for Him. Yet you

God frightens His servants: "My servants, heed Me!"

20. Still the ones who heed their Lord will have mansions placed above it, with rooms constructed underneath through which rivers flow, as God's promise. God never breaks any appointment. Those who bring the facts and confirm them are heedful. They will have anything they wish from their Lord: that is the reward for those who act kindly.

11. The ones who disbelieve tell the ones who believe: "If it were any good, they would not have gotten so far ahead of us on the way toward it." Yet since they are not guided by it, they will say: "This is an old swindle!" Before it, Moses' book served as a model and a mercy, while this is a Book which confirms such in the Arabic tongue, so as to warn those who do wrong, and [it forms] an announcement to those who act kindly. The ones who say: "Our Lord is God [Alone]," then proceed straight ahead, will find no fear afflict them nor will they ever be saddened. If those who disbelieve should ever fight you, they will still turn their backs [and run away]: then they will not find any patron nor supporter, according to God's practice which has occurred before. 24. You will never rind any change in God's practice! He is the One Who fended off their hands from you and your hands from them in the centre of Mecca after He let you vanguish them. God is Observant of anything you do. They are the ones who disbelieved and blocked you from [reaching] the Hallowed Mosque so the offerings were hindered from reaching their destination. If it had not been for some men who believed and some women who believed whom you did not recognize and would have trampled down, an outrage would have afflicted you because of them without [your] even knowing it, so that God will show anyone He wishes into His mercy. If they had dispersed. We would still have punished those of them who disbelieved with painful torment. While those who disbelieved were setting up fanaticism, the fanaticism of Ignorance in their own

52. - The Mount

The Prophet himself said that this chapter helps one believe in God and also in either His punishment or His favor.

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

By the Mount and a Book recorded on unrolled parchment, and the thriving House and the swollen sea, your Lord's torment is bound to happen! No one will avert it on a day when the sky will shift about and the mountains travel around.

11. It will be too bad on that day for rejectors who play around with speculation, on the day they will be pushed firmly towards Hell fire: "This is the Fire which you have been denying. Is this magic or dont you notice anything? Roast in it! Whether you act patient or impatient, it will be all the same for you; you are merely being rewarded for what you have been doing."

17. The heedful will be in gardens and bliss, delighted with whatever their Lord has given them. Their Lord has shielded them from the torment of Hades: "Eat and drink at leisure because of what you have been doing." Relaxing on couches all lined up, We will pair them off with dark-eyed damsels!

29. Remind, for by your Lord's favor, you are no fortune-teller nor any madman. Or do they say: "[He's] a poet! We'll wait for some quirk of fate to [upset] him." SAY: "Lie in wait; for I am waiting along with you."

32. Do their fancies order them to do this or are they arrogant folk? Or do they say: "He has talked it all up"? Rather they do not believe. Let them bring a report like it if they are so truthful.35. Or were they created out of nothing, or are they their own creators? Or did they create Heaven and Earth? Rather they will never be convinced.

37. Do they hold on to your Lord's treasures, or are they even in charge of them? Or have they some ladder from which to eavesdrop? Let their eavesdropper bring some clear authority!

39. Or has He daughters while you have sons? Or are you asking them for some fee so they will feel weighted down with debt? Do they have the Unseen which they are writing down? Or do they want [to hatch] some plot, while those who disbelieve are themselves being 40. Or do they have some other deity instead of God [Alone]? 45. Leave them alone till they encounter their day in which they will be stunned, a day when their plotting will not help them out at all nor will they be supported. The ones who act unjustly will have torment beyond that, even though most of them do not realize it.

48. Act patiently towards your Lord's discretion since you are under

Our eyes. Hymn your Lord's praise whenever you arise, and at night glorify Him occasionally, and as the stars fade away.

53. - The Star

This chapter too is mystical and soaring in spirit, for it concerns the Miraj or Ascension of the Prophet which is also described at the beginning of The Night Journey.

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

By The Star as it sets, your companion has neither strayed nor is he misguided. He does not speak from some whim; it is merely inspiration that is revealed [to him].

Someone firm in strength has taught him, someone possessing such ability that he soared up and stood, poised at the highest [point on the] horizon. Then he approached and came right down, and stood two bow-lengths off or even closer. He inspired whatever he inspired in His servant. His vitals did not deny whatever he saw.

about what he [actually] saw?

nor was it carried away. He saw some of his Lord's greatest signs!

19. Have you (all) considered al-Lat and al-Uzza, and Manat the other [who ranks] in third place? Do you have sons while He has daughters? That would then be an unfair attribution! They are only some names which you and your forefathers have called them: God has not sent down any authority for them. They merely follow

conjecture and something their souls fancy.

Yet guidance has already reached them from their Lord. Or may man have anything he hankers for? Yet God still holds the Last as well as the First!

26. How many angels are there in Heaven whose intercession does not help in any way except after God permits it, for whomever He wishes and approves of? The ones who do not believe in the Hereafter call the angels by the names of females. Yet they have no knowledge about it; they only follow guesswork. Conjecture will not help out in any way against the Truth, so shun anyone who avoids mentioning Us and only wants [to enjoy] worldly life; that will be their range of knowledge.

mentioning Us and only wants [to enjoy] worldly life; that will be their range of knowledge.

Your Lord is quite Aware as to who has strayed from His path, just as He is quite Aware as to who is guided; God possesses whatever is in Heaven and whatever is on Earth, so He may reward the ones who commit evil according to whatever they have done while He rewards the ones who act kindly with [equal] kindness.

32. Those who refrain from the greatest vices and sexual offences, except for oversights (will find] your Lord is Boundless when it comes to forgiveness.

and when you were still embryos in your mothers' wombs. Do not try to justify yourselves; He is quite Aware as to who has done his duty.

33. Have you seen someone who turns away? He has given little, and even skimps at that! Has he such knowledge about the Unseen

He was guite Aware of you when He produced you from the earth that he can (actually) see [it]? Or has he not been notified about what was on Moses' scrolls and on Abraham's, who always kept his word:

That everyman receives only what he makes an effort for: so his effort shall be noticed; then he will be rewarded to the fullest extent.

"That no burdened soul shall bear another's burden.

42. "And that towards your Lord lies the final End; and He makes (us) both laugh and cry, He brings death and grants life. He has created both sexes, male and female, from a drop of semen which has been ejected. On Him [rests your] next appearance.

"He grants wealth and riches; He is even Lord of the Dogstar!

50. "Yet He wiped out the first [nation] of 'Ad and Thamud, and left nothing over, and even Noah's folk previously, who had been most unjust and arrogant. And he fell upon the Overthrown [Towns], and covered them up with whatever covered them."

55. So which of your Lord's benefits will you distrust? This is a warner just like the early warners. What is imminent is approaching:

there is nothing besides God to remove it!

Are you amazed at this report? You laugh, and do not weep while you hold your heads so high! Bow down on your knees to God and worship [Him]!

54. - The Moon (or The Hour Approaches)

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

- 1. The Hour approaches and the Moon is splitting apart! Yet if they see any sign, they avoid it and say: 'It's constant magic!" They deny [it all] and follow their own whims, even though every matter has been settled

- Their eyes cast down, they will issue forth from their tombs as if they were scattered grasshoppers dashing along towards the Crier. Disbelievers will say: "This is such a hard day!"
- 9. Noah's folk denied it long before them; they rejected Our servant and said: "[He's] crazy!", and he was rebuffed. He appealed to his Lord: "I have been overpowered, so support [me]!" So We opened Heaven's gates for water to pour down. We drilled the earth full of
- springs and the waters met at a command which had been decreed. We transported him on something built with planks and caulking which sailed on before Our eyes, as a reward for someone who had been rejected. We left it as a sign; yet will anyone bear it in mind?
- 16.
 How were My torment, and My warnings?
 We have made the Qur'an easy to memorize;
 yet will anyone [bother to] memorize it?

- 18. 'Ad rejected it. How were My torment, and My warnings? We sent a howling gale against them on a day full of continuous misfortune which snatched men up as if they were hollow palm trunks.21.How were My torment, and My warnings!
- We have made the Qur'an easy to memorize; yet will anyone memorize it?

 23. Thamud rejected My warnings too and they said: "Are we to

26. Tomorrow they will know who the brash liar is! We are sending

- morning, unavoidable torment dawned upon them.
- We have made the Qur'an easy to memorize: vet will anvone memorize it?

"Taste My torment and My warnings!"

- 41. Warnings came to Pharaoh's court. Yet they rejected Our signs
- completely, so We seized them the way a Powerful, Competent person would seize [them]. Are your disbelievers any better than
- those men were, or have you some dispensation [to be found] in the Psalms? Or do they say: "We all support one another"?
- 45. They will all be defeated together and turn their backs [to run away]. Indeed the Hour has been promised them; the Hour will be quite disastrous and most bitter. Criminals will be lost in error and
- frenzy. Some day they will be dragged face down through the Fire: "Experience the sense of scorching!"
- 49. We have created everything in due proportion. Our command comes only once, in the twinkling of an eye! We wiped out your
- adherents: does no one recall it? Everything they did is [to be found] in the Psalms; everything small or great has been recorded. The

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

Whatever is in Heaven and Earth celebrates God. He is the Powerful, the Wise!

He holds control over Heaven and Farth.

He grants life and brings death: He is Capable of everything!

He is the First and the Last. the Outward and the Innermost

He is Aware of everything!

4 He is the One Who created

Heaven and Earth in six days;

then He mounted on the Throne He knows what penetrates the earth and what issues from it.

and what comes down from the sky and what soars up into it. He is with you (all) wherever you may be! God is Observant of anything you do.

5 He holds control over Heaven and Earth: unto God do matters return.

He is Aware of whatever is on our minds.

7. Believe in God and His messenger, and spend something out of whatever He has let you inherit [from anyone else]. Those of you who believe and spend [on charity and in public service] will have an even larger fee. What is wrong with you that you do not believe in God and the Messenger? He invites you (all) to believe in your Lord: He has made an agreement with you, provided you are believers.

9. He is the One Who has sent down clear signs upon His servant, so he may lead you out of darkness into Light. God is so Gentle, Merciful with you. What is wrong with you that you do not spend anything for God's sake? God holds the heritage of Heaven and

Earth. Those among you who have spent and fought before the victory are not equal: those stand higher in rank than the ones who spent and fought later on. God has promised each one the very finest. God is Informed about whatever you do.

11. Who is the one who will advance God a handsome loan? He will double it for him so he [will receive] a generous fee. Some day you will see believing men and believing women with their light streaming on ahead of them and off to their right: "Your good news today [consists of] gardens through which rivers flow, to live in for ever!" That will be the splendid Achievement.

13. Some day hypocritical men and hypocritical women will tell the ones who believe: "Wait for us; we need to borrow a light from you!"

ones who believe: "Wait for us; we need to borrow a light from you!" Someone will say: "Go on back the way you came, and request a light [somewhere else]!"

So a wall will rise up between them which will have a door in it; inside there will be mercy while outside facing it there will be torment. They

They will say: "Of course, but you tempted one another, and let yourselves waver and doubt. [Your saying] 'Amens' [to everybody] has deceived you till God's command came along. The Deceiver has even deluded you concerning God! So today no redemption will be accepted from you nor from those who disbelieve; your lodging shall be the Fire: it is your patron and how awful is such a goal!"

will call out to them: "Were we not with vou?"

16. Is it not high time for the hearts of those who believe to submit to God's reminder and any truth that has been sent down? Let them not act like the ones who were given the Book previously: the waiting period seemed too long for them, so their hearts were hardened.

- and many of them became immoral. Know that God revives the earth following its death. We have explained signs to you so that you may use your reason.

 18. Charitable men and charitable women who have advanced God
- a handsome loan will have it doubled for them; they shall have a generous fee. Those who believe in God and His messengers act sincerely, and serve as witnesses for their Lord, will have their earnings plus their own light, while those who disbelieve and reject
- earnings plus their own light, while those who disbelieve and reject Our signs will become the inmates of Hades.

 20. Know that worldly life is merely a sport and a pastime [involving] worldly show and competition among yourselves, as well as rivalry in
- wealth and children. It may be compared to showers where the plantlife amazes the incredulous: then it withers away and you see it turning yellow; soon it will be just stubble. In the Hereafter there will be both severe torment and forgiveness as well as approval on the part of God. Worldly life means only the enjoyment of illusion.

21. Compete for forgiveness from your Lord, and a garden broader than the sky plus the earth, which has been prepared for those who

22. No disaster ever happens on earth nor to yourselves unless it is [contained] in a Book even before We brought it into existence. That is easy for God [to do], so that you should not feel sorry about what may have escaped you, nor yet rejoice in what He has given you. God does not love every conceited boaster who is miserly and orders people to be miserly. For anyone who turns away from it, God believe in God and His messenger. Such is God's bounty which He gives to anyone He wishes. God possesses splendid bounty!

25. We have sent Our messengers with explanations, and sent the Book and the Balance down along with them, so that mankind may conduct themselves with all fairness. We have sent iron down laden with grim violence as well as (other) benefits for mankind, so that is Transcendent, Praiseworthy.

God may know who supports Him and His messengers even though [He is] Unseen, God is Strong, Powerful. 26. We sent Noah and Abraham, and granted prophethood and the Book to the offspring of them both. Some of them have accepted quidance while many of them have been immoral. Then We made Our messengers follow along in their footsteps and We followed them up with Jesus the son of Marv.

We gave him the Gospel and placed compassion and mercy in the hearts of those who have followed him, as well as monkhood; yet they initiated it: We did not prescribe it for them - accept through (their) aspiring for God's approval. They do not observe it in the way it should be observed. We gave their earnings to those of them who believe: vet many of them are immoral.

28. You who believe, heed God and believe in His messenger; He will give you double shares in His mercy and grant you a fight to walk by as well as forgive you. God is Forgiving, Merciful, so let the People of the Book know they can do nothing about God's bounty, since bounty lies [entirely] in God's hand. He gives it to anyone He wishes. God possesses such tremendous grace!

58. - The Pleading Woman (or God Has Heard...)

- In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

 1. God has heard the speech of the woman pleading with you about
- her husband, and complaining to God. God hears whatever you both discuss; God is Alert, Observant.

 2. Those among you who back away from their wives even though
- they are not their mothers (their mothers are only the ones who have given birth to them) are making a dishonorable statement as well as twisting things around. Yet God is Pardoning, Forgiving. The ones who back away from their wives [as if they were their mothers], then retract whatever they have said, should free a captive before either of them may touch one another [again]. That you are instructed to do; God is Informed about anything you do. Whoever does not find such [a captive to free], should then fast for two consecutive months before either of them may touch one another. Anyone who is still unable [to conform] should then feed sixty paupers.

That is [laid down] so you may believe in God and His messenger; such are God's limits. Disbelievers will have painful torment! The ones who want to limit God and His messenger will be restrained just as those before them were restrained. We have sent down clear signs: disbelievers will have disgraceful torment. Some day God will raise them all up again and notify them about anything they have done. God has calculated it while they have forgotten it. God is a Witness for everything!

Have you not considered how God knows whatever is in Heaven unless He is their Sixth, nor [any number] less than that nor greater unless He is with them, wherever they may be. Then on Resurrection Day, He will notify them about whatever they have been doing. God is Aware of everything!

8. Have you not considered the ones who, even though they have and whatever is on Earth? No private conversation ever takes place among three [persons] unless He is their Fourth, nor among five defiance of the Messenger? Whenever they come to you, they greet you the way God never greets you, and tell themselves: "Should God not punish us for what we say?"

Hell will be enough for them; they shall roast in it, for it is such an awful goal to have. You who believe, whenever you confer with one

been forbidden to [carry on any] intrigue, still go back to what they have been forbidden to do and conspire out of sin and enmity, and in another, do not conspire out of sin and enmity, and in defiance of the Messenger: confer virtuously and through a sense of duty. Heed God, before whom you will appear.

10. Intrigue comes only from Satan, so he may sadden those who believe. Yet he will not harm them in any way except with God's permission; so on God let believers rely.

11. You who believe, whenever someone tells you to make room at (any) sessions, then make room: God will make room for you

(any) sessions, then make room; God will make room for you [elsewhere]. When it is said: "Move on ahead!", then move on up. God will raise those of you who believe, in rank, as well as the ones who are given knowledge. God is Informed about anything you do.

12. You who believe, whenever you confer with the Messenger, offer some sort of charity before you confer [with him]; that will be better for you, and purer [besides]. Yet if you do not find anything [to give].

God is still Forgiving, Merciful. Are you worried about proffering some charity before your consultation? If you do not do so, God still turns towards you, so keep up prayer and pay the welfare tax, and obey God and His messenger. God is Informed about anything you do.

14. Have you not considered those who make friends with a folk whom God is angry with? They are neither on your side nor yet on their own, and they perjure themselves while they know it. God has prepared severe torment for them; with them, anything they do is evil. They have taken their faith as a disguise and obstructed God's way. They will have disgraceful torment: neither their wealth nor their children will help them out in any way with God. Those will become inmates of the Fire; they will remain there for ever.

18. Some day God will raise them all up together and they will swear to Him just as they have sworn to you; they reckon they will get something out of it. They are such liars! Satan has won them over and made them forget to mention God: those are Satan's party. Yet Satan's side will be the losers! Those who would limit God and His messenger are the vilest sort.

21. God has written: "I shall prevail, both I Myself and My messengers!" God is Strong, Powerful. You will not find any people who believe in God and the Last Day showing affection for anyone who places limits on God and His messenger, even though they are their own fathers, their sons, their brothers or anyone from their family who places limits on God and His messenger, even though they are their own fathers, their sons, their brothers or anyone from their family connection. With those He will engrave faith on their hearts, assist them with a spirit from Himself, and will show them into gardens through which rivers flow, to live there for ever. God will approve of them while they will be pleased with Him. Those are on God's side. God's party are those who shall be successful!

59. - Banishment

the Powerful, the Wise!

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful! 1.

Whatever is in Heaven and whatever is on Earth celebrates God. He is

2. He is the One Who turned those People of the Book who disbelieved, out of their homes in the first banishment. You (all) did not think that they would leave, while they thought that their strongholds would keep God away from them. Yet God came at them from where they did not anticipate it and cast such panic into their hearts, that they tore their houses down with their own hands as well as through believers' hands: so learn a lesson, you who have any insight! If God had not prescribed expulsion for them, He would still have punished them in this world. They shall have the torment of Fire in the Hereafter. That is because they have broken off with God and His messenger. Anvone who breaks with God [finds out] that God is Stern in punishment.

5. Any nursery stock you cut down or leave standing on their roots, is with God's permission so He may disgrace such immoral people, as well as any [property] of theirs that God has assigned to His messenger, since none of you spurred along any horses or riding camels to get it; however God gives His messenger authority over anyone He wishes. God is Capable of [doing] everything. Anything from townsfolk which God has assigned to His messenger belongs to God and the Messenger, as well as near relatives, orphans, the among the rich men you have.

Accept anything the Messenger may give you, and keep away from anything he withholds from you. Heed God [Alone]: God is Stern with punishment.

8. [It is also] for those poor refugees who have been expelled from their homes and property, while they are seeking bounty and needy and the wayfarer, so that it will not be traded around merely approval from God and are supporting God and His messenger; those are quite sincere. The ones who have set up housekeeping and faith before them should love anyone who has migrated to them; they should not find any need in their breasts for anything that has been given them and prefer them ahead of themselves, even though some privation exists among them. Those who are shielded from their own avarice will be prosperous. 10. The ones who came after

"Our Lord, forgive us and our brethren who have preceded us in faith, and do not place any rancor in our hearts concerning those who believe. Our Lord, You are Compassionate, Merciful!"

11. Have you not considered those who act hypocritically? They tell their brethren among the People of the Book who disbelieve: "If you are expelled, we will leave along with you. We shall never obey anyone concerning you. If you are attacked, we will support you."

God will show them up as liars! If they ever are expelled, they will not

God will show them up as liars! If they ever are expelled, they will not leave with them, while if they are attacked, they will never support them. Even if they should support them, they will still turn their backs [on them]; then they will not be supported. They are more in dread of you (all) than anything they feel in their breasts towards God. That is because they are a folk who do not comprehend [anything]. They will not fight you as a group except from inside fortified towns or from odds. That is because they are a folk who do not use their reason.

15. Just as the ones shortly before them tasted the consequence of their own action, even so they will have painful torment. It is just as Satan does when he tells a man: "Disbelieve," and then once he does disbelieve, says: "I am innocent of you; I fear God, Lord of the Universe." The outcome for them both is that they [will land] in the behind walls. Their violence towards one another is serious; you would reckon they would stick together, while their hearts are so at wrongdoers.

18. You who believe, heed God! Let every soul watch out for whatever it has prepared for the morrow, and heed God; God is Informed about anything you do. Do not be like those who have

Fire, to remain there for ever. Such will be the reward for forgotten about God, so He lets them forget about their own souls. Such people are immoral! The inmates of the Fire are not equal to the inhabitants of the Garden; the inhabitants of the Garden will achieve [whatever they want].

21. If We had sent this Qur'an down on a mountain, you would have seen it solemnly splitting open out of awe for God. These are the parables We make up for mankind so that they may meditate.

so on God [Alone] let believers rely!

14. You who believe, some of your spouses and children may be your own enemies, so beware of them! Yet if you pardon, condone and forgive [them], God will (likewise) be Forgiving, Merciful. Your wealth and your children are simply a [means on] testing [you]. Yet God holds a splendid fee. Heed God however you can manage to; hear, obey and spend money on one another. Those who feel secure

65. - Divorce

As shown by the title, it contains legislation on domestic matters.

- In the name of God, the Mercy-aiving, the Merciful!
- 1. O Prophet, whenever you [and other Muslims] divorce women. send them away according to their [legal] number and count up the

- Such are God's limits, and anyone who oversteps God's limits thereby harms himself. You do not know whether God may let some matter happen later on!

- accomplish His purpose. God has granted everything in due proportion.
- 4. If you have any doubt concerning those women of yours who have finished with menstruation, then their count is three months; as it is with the ones who are still not menstruating. With those who are pregnant, their term will be whenever they give birth. God makes His matter easy for anyone who heeds Him. Such is God's command which He sends down to you (all). Anyone who heeds God will have birth: while if they are nursing [any babies] for you, then give them their allowances. Discuss things among vourselves in all decency. while if you are hard on one another, then seek another wetnurse for Ithe father to payl. A man of means should spend out of his means. while anyone whose income must be budgeted more carefully. should spend some of whatever God has granted him.

Thus the Prophet confided a story to one of his wives and when she spread it around. God disclosed the matter to him. He let some of it be known, and overlooked part [of it]. However when he informed her about it, she said: "Who told you about this?", he said: "The Aware, the Informed One told me so." 4. If both of you will turn to God (in repentance), then let your hearts be so inclined: while if you back each other up against him, then God will be his Patron as well as Gabriel, plus any honorable believer.

17. We shall test them just as We tested the owners of the orchard when they swore they would pick its fruit next morning and did not make any reservation about having a second chance; so a calamity from your Lord came round to them while they were sleeping and one morning it lay as if it had been already harvested!

25. So they went off early, grumbling yet ready for work, and when they saw it, they said: "We must be lost! In fact, we feel destitute." 28. Someone more considerate among them said: "Did I not tell you: "Why do you not glorify [God]?"" They said: "Glory be to our Lord; we

- 33. Such is torment, although torment in the Hereafter will be even greater if they only realized it.
- 34. The heedful will have gardens of bliss alongside their Lord. Are We to treat Muslims as if they were criminals? What is wrong with you? How do you decide matters? Or do you have some book to study from? Do you have whatever you select from it? Or do you have some pledge binding on Us until Resurrection Day that you shall have whatever you decide upon?" Ask them which of them will

The apocalyptic vision is superb and now becoming clearer, for this chapter offers us a vivid idea of how the Last Trumpet will sound on Judgment Day. It also talks about the ancient peoples of Arabia called Thamud and 'Ad, as well as about Pharaoh and Noah.

38. Yet I swear by whatever you observe and what you do not observe, that it is a statement [made] by a noble messenger, it is no

- on that day (every)man will say: "Where is there any escape?" 11. Of course there will be no sanctuary; recourse will be only with
- your Lord on that day. Man will be notified that day about anything he has sent on ahead or else held back. Indeed man holds evidence even against himself although he may proffer his excuses.
- 16. Do not try to hurry it up with your tongue; it is up to Us to collect it, as well as [to know how] to recite it. So whenever We do read it. follow in its reading: it is then We Who must explain it! 20. Indeed how you (all) love the fleeting present while you neglect the Hereafter! Some faces will be radiant on that day, looking toward their Lord: while other faces will be scowling on that day, thinking that some impoverishing blow will be dealt them. Indeed when it reaches as high as one's collarbone and someone says: "Who is such a wizard?", he will suppose that it means leave-taking while one shin will twist around the other shin [to keep it from moving]; towards your Lord will the Drive be on that day! 31 He was not trusting and did not pray. but said: "No!" and turned away. Then he stalked off haughtily to his family. [though] closer to you and even closer! Then closer to you [lies your doom] and still closer! 36 Does man reckon he'll be left forlorn?

76. - Everyman (or This Day-and-Age)

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

- 1. Has a period in [this] age not come over (every) man when he was nothing worth mentioning? We have created man from a drop of
- semen [forming] cells so We might test him; thus We made him alert.
- thankful or thankless. We have prepared chains, shackles and a Blaze for disbelievers! 5. The virtuous will drink from a cup which will be mixed with camphor, a freely gushing spring where God's servants will drink. They [always] keep their word, and fear a day whose evil tends to spread around. They offer food to the needy, the orphan and the observant. We have guided him along the [right] path, whether he is

- captive out of love for Him: "We are only feeding you for God's sake. We want no reward from you nor any thanks. We fear a gloomy.
- dismal day from our Lord." 11. God will shield them from that day's evil, and procure them splendor and happiness. Their compensation for being patient will be a garden and silk (clothing), relaxing on couches there where they will see neither sun nor any frost. Close over them will hang its awnings, while its clusters of fruit will droop low. Silver pitchers will be passed around them, and glasses made from crystal, crystal [set] with silver, which they will measure out just as they please, and be allowed to drink from them a cup flavored with ginger, [from] a spring there that is called Nectar.
- 19. Immortal youths will stroll around them; whenever you see them, brocade and cloth of gold, and will be dressed up with silver bracelets, while their Lord will offer them a pure drink: "This is your reward, for your effort has been appreciated." 23. It is We Who have sent the Qur'an down to you as a revelation so be patient concerning your Lord's decision and do not obey any wicked or ungrateful person among them. Remember your Lord's sinews. Whenever We wish, We will replace them with others like them in exchange. 26.

This is merely a Reminder: anyone who wishes, may adopt a way to [meet] his Lord. Anything you (all) wish is only if God so wishes too; God is Aware, Wise! He will admit anyone He wishes into

His mercy, while He has prepared painful torment for wrongdoers.

77. - [Winds] Send Forth

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

By the [winds] sent forth for a purpose and gales that rage on and on, scattering things around; then dividing them all up, and delivering a Reminder either as a plea or a warning, you (all) are surely promised something inevitable.

When the stars fade away,
when the sky splits open,

when mountains are pulverized and when messengers' time is set, till which day will they be put off?

Till the day for Sorting [things] out!
What will make you realize what the day for Sorting is?

It will be too bad

It will be too bad

for rejectors on that day!

Did We not wipe out ancient men?

Then We followed them up with later ones.

Thus We deal with criminals!

Do We not create you (all) from a despised fluid?
We place it in a firm resting-place for a known period. We measure it out and how favored are Those Who measure it!
It will be too bad
for rejectors on that day!

Have We not placed the earth as a round up for the living and the dead?

We have planted lofty headlands on it and offered you (all) fresh water to drink.
It will be too bad
for rejectors on that day!

We shall bring you (all) together with the original men. If you have any scheme, then scheme against me. It will be too bad for rejectors on that day!

This is a day for Sorting [things] out:

The heedful will be in shady nooks by springs and have whatever fruit they may hanker for: "Eat and drink at leisure because of what you have been doing."

Thus We reward those who act kindly.

It will be too bad for rejectors on that day.

Eat and enjoy yourselves for a little while, since you are criminals.

It will be too bad for rejectors on that day.

48.
When someone told them: "Bow your heads!".

they would not bow their heads [in prayer].

It will be too bad for rejectors on that day.

50. Yet what report will they believe in later on?

78. - The Announcement

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

- 1. What are they questioning one another about? About an important
- announcement which they are disagreeing over. However they soon will know! Then indeed they shall know!
- 6
- Have We not laid the earth out as a cradle and [set] the mountains up as kingpins? We have created you in pairs and granted your sleeping for repose
- and granted night as a garment, and granted daytime for [you to earn your] living in.
- 12. We have built seven firmaments above you and set a blazing lamp may produce grain and plants with it, as well as luxuriant gardens.
- there. We send down water in torrents wrung from rainclouds so We 17.
- The day for Sorting has been appointed. the day when the Trumpet shall be blown so you will come in droves, and the sky will open up as if it had gates,
- and the mountains will travel along as if they were a mirage. 21. Hell will lurk in ambush to receive home the arrogant, who will linger there for ages. They will taste nothing cool in it nor any drink calculated in writing: "So taste! Yet We shall only increase torment for you!"

31. The heedful will have their scene of triumph with parks and vineyards, as well as buxom maidens their own age and a brimming cup. They will hear no idle talk nor any lying [gossip] there, as a compensation from your Lord, a calculated gift.

37. Lord of Heaven and Earth as well as whatever is in between them. [He is] the Mercy-giving! They control no means of addressing except hot bathwater and slops, [which are such] a fitting compensation since they have never expected [to meet with] any reckoning and have wittingly rejected Our signs. Everything have We

Him; on the day when the Spirit and the angels will stand there in ranks, only someone the Mercy-giving grants permission to shall speak, and he will speak straight to the point.

39. That day will seem too real! Anyone who wishes to, may adopt his recourse to [reach] the Lord. We have warned you (all) how punishment lies close-at-hand, on a day when any man will see whatever his own hands have sent on ahead, and the disbeliever will sav: "If I were only dust!"

79. - [Soul-]Snatchers

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful! 1.

By those who snatch [men's souls] away at their last gasp and others who act more nimbly as well as those floating by,

to regulate some matter! Some day a rumbling will be felt: another will follow on its heels!

and still others racing past,

Hearts will be pounding on that day; their sight will be downcast. They will say: "Will we be restored to our original state once we are crumbled bones?"

lesson for anyone who dreads [retribution].

12. They say: 'That would then be a losing proposition! There would only be a single rebuke and then they would never be able to sleep again!

15. Has Moses' story ever come to you, when his Lord called to him by the sacred valley of Tuwa? "Go off to Pharaoh; he has acted arrogantly. SAY: 'Would you care to be purified and for me to guide you to your Lord so you may [learn to] dread [Him]?"

He showed him the greatest sign. Yet he denied and defied it;

then he turned away to try his best. He summoned, and called out. and said: "I am your supreme Lord!" God seized him as an example in (both) the Hereafter and from the First [life]. In that there lies a brings forth its morning glow; and the earth has He spread out besides, and produced its water and its pasturage from it. The mountains has He anchored as an enjoyment for you and for your livestock.

34. When the greatest calamity comes along, on the day when everyman will remember whatever he has tried to accomplish, and

27. Were you harder to create, or the sky He has raised? He has lifted its canopy up and smoothed it off. He darkens its night and arrogantly and preferred worldly life will have Hades for a dwelling place. Anyone who has been afraid to stand before his Lord and restrained himself from passion, will have the Garden for a dwelling place.

Hades will loom forth for anyone to see, anyone who has acted

42. They will ask you about the Hour: "When will it come to pass? Why are you reminding us about it?" It lies up to your Lord to set it. You are merely a warner for anyone who dreads it; just as some day they shall see they have hung around for only an evening, or its morning glow.

80. - He Frowned!

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

- 8. Yet with someone who comes to you eagerly and anxiously, you act so distracted! Indeed, it serves as a Reminder! Anyone who
- act so distracted! Indeed, it serves as a Reminder! Anyone who wishes should remember how it [exists] on honored pages which are held aloft [for display], cleansed by the hands of noble, virtuous scribes.
- 17. Let man be damned! What makes him act ungrateful? From what sort of thing did He create him? From a drop of semen has He created him and proportioned him. Then He made the Way easy for him: next He will let him die and bury him. Then flater on! He will raise
- 23. Of course he does not accomplish what He orders him to. So let man look at his own food! We let water pour down abundantly; then We split the earth right open and cause grain to sprout from it, and grapes and fodder, olive trees, datepalms and dense woodlots and fruit[-trees) and pastures as an enjoyment for both you and your

33. When the uproar comes on a day when man will flee from his brother, his mother and his father, his mate and his children, every last man among them will have enough concern that day to keep him occupied. Some faces will be beaming on that day, laughing, rejoicing; while other faces will be covered with grime on that day, soot will overshadow them. Those will be the shameless dishelievers

81. - Extinguished! (Wrapping Things Up)

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving,, the Merciful!

When the sun has been extinguished, when the stars slip out of place, when the mountains travel along, when ten-month pregnant camels are neglected, when wild beasts are herded together, when the seas overflow, when souls are reunited, when souls are reunited, when the buried girl is asked for what offence she has been killed, when scriptures are unrolled.

when the sky is stripped bare, when Hades is set blazing, when the Garden is brought close, each soul shall know what it has prepared!

So I swear by the planets moving, sweeping along, and night as it draws on, and morn when it breathes again,

- so today those who believe will laugh at disbelievers, from couches where they [lie] watching. Are not disbelievers being compensated for just what they have been doing?

84. - Splitting Open

This is one of the earlier pictures of Doomsday, but the message is not esoteric or hidden. The language in fact is clear and simple even for an apocalyptic vision.

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

88. - The Pall

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

- 1
- Has the story of the Pall ever reached you? Some faces will be downcast on that day,
- laboring, toiling. They will roast in a scorching fire; offered
- a boiling spring to drink from, they will have no food except some cactus which will neither fatten (them)
- nor satisfy their hunger.
- 8. Other faces will be blissful on that day,
- pleased with their effort,
- (dwelling) in a lofty garden. No loose talk will be heard in it. There will be
- a flowing spring there; by it couches will be raised up,
- glasses set in place, cushions lined up and carpets spread around.
- 17. Do they not consider
- how camels have been created?
- Nor how the sky has been lifted up?
 Nor how the mountains have been erected?
 Nor even how the earth
- has been flattened out?

So remind: you need only to remind! You are no taskmaster set up over them, except for someone who turns away and disbelieves;

God will punish him with the worst torment.

Toward Us lies their retreat: then their reckoning will fall on Us.

89. - Daybreak

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

By the Daybreak and ten nights and the even and the odd,

and night as it journeys on, does that not contain an oath for someone who is mindful?

Have you not seen how your Lord dealt with 'Ad, [the people of] Iram, possessing columns whose like had never been created in the land?

And Thamud who carved rock out of the valley;

and Pharaoh wielding kingpins who were (all) so arrogant in the land

who were (all) so arrogant in the land and increased corruption there? Your Lord unleashed the scourge of torment on them.

14. Your Lord is ever on the lookout! Yet everyman says, whenever his Lord tests him by honoring and favoring him: "My Lord has honored me!"; while whenever He tests him by rationing His sustenance for him, he says: "My Lord has disgraced me."

17. Rather you are not generous with the orphan nor do you promote feeding the needy, and greedily use up anything you inherit. You love money till it's brimming over!

21. Indeed when the earth has been completely flattened out and on that day; on that day everyman will remember, as if remembrance even matters to him! He will say: "It's too bad for me! What did I send on ahead during my lifetime?"

25. On that day, no one will torment [anyone] with torment like His, and no one will hold to any agreement as he will hold to His!

O Tranquil soul.

your Lord comes with the angels, row upon row, and brings up Hell

Enter among My servants.

and enter My garden.

90. - This Countryside

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

I swear by [this] countryside, you are a native settled on this land as well as any parent and whatever he may father.

4. We have created man under stress.

Does he reckon that no one can do anything against him? He says:

"I have used up piles of money!"

Does he consider that no one sees him?

8. Ha

Have We not granted him both eyes, a tongue and two lips, and guided him along both highroads? Yet he does not tackle the Obstacle! What will make you realize what the Obstacle is?

[It means] redeeming the captive, or feeding some orphaned relative on a day of famine or some needy person in distress.

17.

Then he will act like someone who believes, recommends patience and encourages mercifulness.

Those will be the companions on the right-hand side, while the ones who disbelieve in Our signs will be companions on the sinister side:

above them a fire will hem them in.

91. - The Sun

This chapter deals with Salih or Methusaleh, the messenger who was sent to the early Arabian nation of Thamud, and the punishment which the latter people received. It brings out the fact that most persons must strive hard in order to remain pure.

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

By the Sun and its radiance, and the moon as it trails after it, and daylight which shines resplendent from it, and night when it covers things up, and the sky and whatever built it, and the earth and what has stretched it out, and any soul and whatever has fashioned it and filled it with both its debauchery and its sense of duty!

Anyone who purifies himself will prosper while whoever neglects to do so will be disappointed.

Thamud rejected it through their arrogance when their meanest wretch was delegated and God's messenger told them:
"[Here is) God's she-camel; give her its day to drink."

By night as it broods,

5.
For anyone who gives (generously], performs his duty and acts charitably in the finest manner
We shall facilitate an easy way for him;

while anyone who acts miserably, and feels he is self-sufficient and rejects the finest [things in life]
We shall make it easy for him (to go] the hard way. His money will not help him out as he stumbles along.

Guidance is Our concern: to Us belongs the Hereafter and the very First [of life]; so I have warned you (all) about a raging fire.

- 15. Only the most wretched will roast in it. the one who rejects [the Message] and turns away; while the most heedful will keep away from it. the one who gives his money away and (thereby) purifies himself

- Did He not find you an orphan and sheltered [you]? He found you lost and guided [you]. He found you destitute and made you rich!
- Thus the orphan must not be exploited; and the beggar should not be brushed aside . Still tell about your Lord's favor.

94. - Consolation (or Relief)

The chapter marks divine confirmation of the Prophet's mission, and it brings him further comfort. During any depressed mood we can find much solace by repeating it.

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

Did We not relieve your breast for you, and remove your burden from you that pressed down upon your back?
We have even raised up renown of you!

Yet hardship will bring ease. Indeed, hardship must bring ease! So whenever you have finished, still toil on! Towards your Lord direct your longing!

95. - The Figtree

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

- Those People of the Book who have disbelieved, plus the associators [of others with God] did not give up until evidence came to them,
- [through] a messenger from God reciting purified pages which comprise changeless books.
- 4. Nor did those who were given the Book disagree (about it) until after evidence had come to them.5. Yet they have merely been ordered to worship God sincerely -
- 5. Yet they have merely been ordered to worship God sincerely -[reserving] religion for Him [Alone], as righteous seekers [after Truth] and to keep up prayer and pay the welfare tax. That is the religion for an established [community].
- 6. Those People of the Book who disbelieve as well as the associators will remain in Hell fire; those are the worst creatures. Those who believe and perform honorable deeds are the best creatures; their reward from their Lord will be gardens of Eden through which rivers flow, to live in for ever. God is pleased with them while they feel pleased with Him. That is [reserved] for anyone who on that day she will report her news which your Lord has inspired her with.

which your Lord has inspired her with. On that day men will appear in droves to be shown their actions;

and whoever has done an atoms's weight of good will see it; while whoever has done an atom's weight of evil will see it

100. - The Chargers

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

1.

By the snorting chargers striking sparks [with their hooves] and racing [home] by morning, so they leave a trail of dust as they dash into the middle of the troops with it; everyman is grudding towards his Lord!

7.

He himself [acts] as a witness to that; and is quite passionate in his love of wealth.

Does he not realize that when whatever [lies] in graves is tumbled out, and whatever is on [people's] minds is checked up on, their Lord will be Informed about them on that day?

101. - The Stunning [Blow] (or The Disaster)

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

The stunning [blow]!

What is a disaster?
What will make you realize

something is going to stun [you]?

Some day mankind will act like scattered moths and the mountains seem like tufts of yarn!
So anyone whose scales are weighted down [will land] in pleasant living:

while whoever's scales are light will have a Pit to mother him.

10. What will make you realize what this will be like? Scorching fire!

102. - Competition

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

Competition has distracted you until you visit graveyards.

Nevertheless you soon will know; once more, you soon shall know!

Of course, if you realized with absolute certainty how you will (all) see Hades, then you would see it with the [very] eye of certainty; next you will be questioned concerning bliss on that day.

103. - Eventide (or The Epoch)

Theverses offer us a consoling prayer which is recited frequently, since it brings home to us how all things change, and we must learn patiently to face the inevitable. A final consonant in -r carries the rhyme.

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

By eventide, everyman [feels] at a loss except for those who believe,
perform honorable deeds,
encourage Truth, and recommend patience.

104. - The Gossipmonger

As its name implies, the chapter deals with slander of the Prophet, which hurt him deeply. The punishment predicted is dire, yet natural and to be expected.

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

How awful [will it be] for every backbiting slanderer who hoards wealth and keeps on adding to it! He reckons that his money will make him immortal. Nevertheless he will be flung into the Boneculsher!

5. What will make you realize what the Bonecrusher is? It is! God's kindled fire whi

106. - Quraysh (or Winter)

The Quraysh were the Prophet's own clan, who at first opposed his mission and felt they were the only aristocrats fit to live in Mecca. Later members of this family became his successors or caliphs in the great cities of Damascus and Baghdad.

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

1. Have you seen someone who rejects religion?

That is the person who pushes the orphan aside and does not promote feeding the needy.

4. It will be too bad for the prayerful who are absent-minded as they pray, who aim to be noticed while they hold back contributions.

108. - Plenty

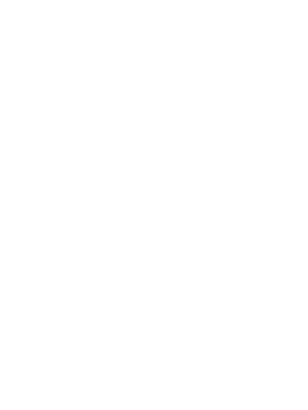

The title is the name of a legendary river which flows through Paradise; its water is reserved exclusively for God-fearing Muslims. It is sweeter than honey, whiter than milk and smoother than cream. This lyric chapter gives added consolation to the Prophet during his early persecution.

In the name of God, the Mercy-giving, the Merciful!

We have given you plenty, so pray to your Lord and sacrifice since your opponent is the one who will be lopped off.

110. - [Divine] Support

These verses form the very last chapter to be revealed to the Prophet. It is one of the shortest chapters (along with Plenty 108. which likewise consists of three verses).

The message assures Muhammad that Islam will ultimately be successful. The word 'support' exists as both a noun and verb and is thus more effective in rendering such meanings or situations, so I use it in preference to 'victory' (which I have retained for the word will never profit him: he'll roast in a fire with a flame;

while his wife who carries kindling around will have a palm-fiber rope around her neck.

112. - Sincerity (or [God's] Oneness)

clearly here; in fact, it is a strong declaration against the Godhead being looked upon as consisting of more than one person or God's having any son. The title Al-Ikhlas, one of the divine attributes, is the direct opposite to shirk or the sin of 'association', and involves freeing oneself from such impure worship through pure faith.

The doctrine of God's pure Unity or the Divine Oneness is stated

This chapter is sometimes called the 'Third" of the Qur'an, since it explains one of the three essential dogmas in Islam, but its stark simplicity is not always appreciated by non-Muslims, nor translated clearly. It forms an answer to a previous rhetorical question implied in the first word, which is "SAY:"

It may be said in cemeteries, (and generally is recited there eleven times), and in memory of deceased loved ones. Through it awareness of God's Omnipresence reaches us.
